Lowden Withdraws His Name Before the Roll Is Called

COOLIDGE HERE, ON WAY TO GET TROUT
Radio Ignores Convention.

President of the United States, the guest of Chicago last night, was the cry as the head came a glistening black and white head of half a dozen men. It was the President's special train, bound for the land of cool trout and game fish, arriving at 5:45 and the North Western railroad station at California avenue and Kinzie street.

There were perhaps two or three men—pushed toward the front of the line, the private car of Herbert Hoover. There was a cheer or two.

Not Public Appearance. The last day of the last car opened was held by an old Calvin Coolidge, who stepped to the threshold, hesitated a moment, and then strode on to the observation car. The President's first public appearance since he began his journey westward.

Mr. Coolidge's health was reported as excellent during the day's trip. He was seen on the platform. She was seen on the platform. She was seen on the platform.

40 POLICE TRAP BANDITS; THREE SHOT IN BATTLE

Lieut. Barry Falls Leading His Men.

Surrounded in the center of a 40 acre field, near Melrose Park and sprayed with hundreds of bullets from the machine guns and rifles of forty policemen late yesterday afternoon, Charles Cleaver and Joseph Farina, robbers, who escaped from Du Page county jail at Wheaton last Sunday, fought desperately until their own ammunition was exhausted and each was wounded nearly a dozen times.

A final rush by the besiegers resulted in the capture of the natural stronghold of the outlaws, a circular hollow, in which they had lived like hunted animals for nearly a week.

Lieut. Barry Wounded.
In the battle Lieut. Andrew Barry of the detective bureau, twice winner of THE TRIBUNE monthly hero award, was wounded in the left leg and the left ear. He was leading the attack when he was shot. Even after being wounded Barry continued to direct the assault on the desperadoes, although he was in the direct line of fire both from their guns and from those of the policemen behind him.

Cleaver, 34 year old leader of the bandit gang that took $233,000 in the robbery of a mail train at Evergreen Park last February, proved his right to the title of "Chicago's most dangerous criminal"—applied by the police when he broke jail—by his conduct after he had been captured.

Taunted Police Captors.
He cursed the police. He taunted them with the fact that they were forty against two. And he boasted that if he had had bullets for the machine gun that was in his primitive shelter he would have killed a dozen or more.

"I'd like to meet you one by one," he snarled with bloodstained lips, overcoming the handicap of three bullet wounds through his lungs. "The only thing I'm sorry for is that we didn't have the bullets for that machine gun."

The machine gun had been taken from the office of Sheriff Lawrence Hattendorf of Du Page county when Cleaver and four companions made their dash for freedom after beating a deputy sheriff unconscious in the Wheaton jail. So, too, had the two shotguns and the two pistols with which the pair fought off the police for three-quarters of an hour.

Five Squads Reach Scene.
It was shortly before 5 p. m. when five squads of Chicago detectives, commanded by Deputy Commissioner William E. O'Connor, Chief of Detectives Michael Grady and Capt. William Schoemaker, arrived at the scene of the battle.

They stopped first in the home of Tony Callendo, a dilapidated frame structure at 23d street and North avenue, in Leyden township. Behind the house are a number of small shanties, the plant of a concern making fireworks. Farther on, in the rear of these shanties, stretches the sparse, wooded, weed-grown tract of forty acres.

Find Four Men in Home.
In the house the police found Callendo, his brother, Martin, John Cublata and Samuel Farina, the latter a brother of Cleaver's companion. All four were employees of the fireworks company. There, too, were Mrs. Tony Callendo, soon to be a mother, and two children. All said they knew nothing of the outlaws; had not seen them.

CHARGE CAPONE PLANS GASOLINE STATION RACKET

Independent gasoline filling station owners held a meeting last night under police protection to protest against the alleged efforts of Al Capone to "organize" them. To show their apprehension over Capone's designs they decided to close down their stations entirely for one day, but did not decide upon the date.

Sergeants John Cartan and John Quinn were detailed to the meeting, which consisted of fifty representatives of the Automobile Trades association, the membership of which was reported to consist of the six hundred independent owners of filling stations.

The members said they had been solicited by Leonard Micon, who proclaims himself president of the Filling Station Owners' Association of Cook County, with offices at 809 West Madison street, to join under certain penalties. Micon is reported to have told the owners that Capone would only charge the owners $5 a month—present—for the "protection."

25 Minute Frenzy Greet Hoover's Name

BY JAMES O'DONNELL BENNETT.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Convention Hall, Kansas City, Mo., June 14.—[Special.]—Seven o'clock at night. And the hall flooded with white light and bursting with the words "Herbert Hoover."
The Quaker's name is capable of stirring a tempest after all. Flags are fluttering and tossing. Battles are clattering.
Men and women are cheering. They leap on chairs.
The drums of the band, far aloft, are rolling.
John L. McNab of California, who is the nominator of the Quaker for the Presidency of the United States in the nineteenth convention of the Republican party, is being clever and different.

He had now had recourse to that tardy and stale device of convention spellbinders—the withholding of the nominee's name to make the last two words of the nominating speech.

"Hoover"—Then Pandemonium!
Within a few seconds after he had begun his speech McNab released the glad tidings in it—the words "Herbert Hoover."
And so, without pretended suspense, the Hoover people have jumped right into their demonstration.
McNab, spectacled and beaming, is standing silent at the speaker's rostrum.

George Moses, our dominant chairman, is whacking away with the gavel. He is a Hoover man, but he knows the way to keep the steam up in a convention demonstration is for the chairman to whack away as if desperately concerned that the delegates shall be in order.
The last wish of George, as a Hoover man, is that the delegates shall be in order.

California Leads March.
Now the great walkaround begins. California is leading it. A paper mache elephant as big as the late Mr. Barnum's white elephant is carried into the line of marchers by Charles E. Hughes received one from Missouri.
Senator Guy Goff got 18 votes from West Virginia.

Corn Belt's Plank Beaten 817 to 267

The Anti-Saloon league's prohibition "observance and vigorous enforcement" plank was adopted, along with the rest of the platform, after a futile fight led by Dr. Nicholas Murray Butler. (Details page 3.)

BY ARTHUR EVANS.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Kansas City, Mo., June 14.—[Special.]—The equalization fee, the core of the twice vetoed McNary-Haugen bill, was rejected by a Homeric debate today after a Homeric debate over the farm plank. The vote was 817 to 267.

The delegates adopted a plank for Hoover to stand on.
Leaders of the corn belt insurgency took their fight to the floor of the convention. They submitted a minority report on the farm question which endorsed the principle of the equalization fee.

For more than two hours, the economic aspects of the farm plank, the temper of the farmers, and the effect of the plank upon the agricultural vote in November were thrashed out.

Corn Belt Vote Divided.
When the vote came, the corn belt self proved by no means unanimous in McNary-Haugenism. Only Illinois, Indiana, Iowa, Minnesota, North Dakota, South Dakota, and Wisconsin voted strongly for the equalization fee substitute. Kansas cast a majority against it. Michigan split almost even, so was Nebraska. Colorado was against it. And even Minnesota, which has been listed as one of the strongest McNary-Haugen states, cast one-third of its vote against it.

The majority farm plank which was adopted pledges the party to the creation of a federal farm board with power to promote a stabilized marketing system through farmer owned co-operatives and organizations. It came out for full tariff protection on farm products that are influenced by foreign markets.

Without "putting the government into business," it favors setting up a federal system of organization for orderly and cooperative marketing.

Indorsees Coolidge Stand.
The plank was an indorsement of the Coolidge program and of the Hoover-Jardine idea of government stimulated cooperative marketing to handle the surplus crop problem.

The minority plank of the corn belt, presented by Earl C. Smith, president of the Illinois Agricultural association, had for its nub an indorsement of the "equalization fee" idea. It did by definition, demanding "distribution of the costs of concerted action over the commodity benefited."

The debate was the most intense at a Republican national convention since the Bull Moose days of 1912. It was restrained on both sides, but grimly restrained.

McMullen Opens Show.
Gov. Adam McMullen of Nebraska, one of the leaders in the corn belt movement, opened the fireworks.
"The welfare of the farmer is more to be desired than the welfare of any political party or any individual," he said. "The millions on the farms will not be submerged."

BIG TRIUMPH FOR SECRETARY ING. O. P. BALLOT

Make It Unanimous; Pick Mate Today.

A full page of pictures illustrating the life of Herbert Hoover, Republican nominee for President, appears as the back page of this issue.

BY ARTHUR SEARS HENNING.
[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Kansas City, Mo., June 14.—[Special.]—Herbert Hoover of California, secretary of commerce since 1921, was nominated Republican candidate for President at 11:20 o'clock tonight by an overwhelming majority, following the withdrawal of Frank O. Lowden of Illinois because the party had refused to accept the corn belt farm relief plan the Illinoisan sponsors.

On the first and only ballot of the nineteenth national convention of the G. O. P. Hoover received the votes of 837 out of the 1,089 delegates, nearly 300 in excess of the requisite majority.

Nomination Made Unanimous.
Upon the motion of the Kansas and Oklahoma delegations in behalf of Senator Curtis of Kansas, the leading anti-Hoover candidate after the withdrawal of Lowden, and of West Virginia in behalf of Senator Goff, the nomination of Hoover was declared unanimous.

The result of the ballot follows:
Herbert Hoover.....837
Frank O. Lowden.....74
Charles Curtis.....64
James E. Watson.....42
George W. Norris.....24
Guy D. Goff.....18
Calvin Coolidge.....17
Charles G. Dawes.....4
Charles E. Hughes.....1
Absent.....5

Of all candidates in the history of the party who have been nominated on the first ballot, with the exception of Presidents renominated, Mr. Hoover received the largest vote.

Corn Belt Left Disaffected.
The corn belt, overruled by the party in the framing of the platform and the nomination of the candidate, was left in a state of disaffection, with many of the lieutenants in the Lowden camp declaring that they and their followers will not hesitate to support Al Smith.

The withdrawal of Lowden, though it fulfilled a threat he uttered several weeks ago, created a sensation in the convention and precipitated a scramble of delegates for the Hoover band wagon. Delegations that had been committed to Lowden were thrown into confusion by the unheralded action of their leader.

Mary rushed incontinently into the arms of Hoover, while the diehards among the farm relievers flocked to the standard of Senator Curtis of Kansas, who voted for the McNary-Haugen farm relief bill, though he voted later to sustain the veto.

Only Three Give Him None.
One remarkable thing about the balloting by states was that Hoover received some votes—at least one—from every one of the states and territories in the Union, excepting three. The three which did not give him votes were Indiana, Kansas and Oklahoma. The two former adhered to their respective native sons—Jim Watson and Charles Curtis. Oklahoma, to be neighborly, cast its 30 votes for Curtis, who is the senator next door from Kansas. And Kansas is known as more or less of a Hoover stronghold.

Average net paid circulation of THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE May, 1928:

went up when it was announced that its votes were cast for Hoover.

Then Pennsylvania got a cheer when Andrew W. Mellon announced 75 for Hoover.

In the Rhode Island delegation all voted for Hoover except one, the daughter of Senator Curtis, who cast her ballot for her father.

South Carolina, a Lowden state, was found on the Hoover band wagon to a man.

At the conclusion of the roll call Senator Deneen made his way forward and was recognized. He wished to announce that an Illinois delegate who was absent when the roll was called had entered the hall and wished his vote recorded for Charles G. Dawes.

This was done.

The great battle was over. The crowd, knowing Hoover had won overwhelmingly, was already trooping from the hall, not waiting for the announcement of the result. For the next ten minutes the secretaries worked over the tabulation of the ballot and finally the result was announced. This was the signal for another outburst of pandemonium of acclaim for Hoover.

Declares Nomination Unanimous.

Chairman Moses announced the nomination of Hoover. Kansas moved that the nomination be made unanimous, and Oklahoma moved West Virginia seconded the motion. Chairman Moses put the motion and called for the ayes. There was a tornado of ayes. He called for the nays. He seemed to be startled by the nays, but with the result was announced. The chairman instantly decided to ignore them. He declared the motion unanimously adopted.

Thereupon the convention adjourned at 11:25 until noon tomorrow.

Demonstrations for Hoover.

Earlier in the evening's proceedings the roll of states was called for nominations. Alabama gave way to California and the name of Hoover was presented by John McNab of San Francisco.

There was a tremendous demonstration for Hoover at the beginning and at the end of Mr. McNab's address.

When the outbreak finally subsided, Mr. Glenn was observed standing on the platform without any manuscript. Presently, he was introduced by Chairman Moses.

Mr. Glenn made a few introductory remarks extemporaneously and then drew from his pocket the prepared statement from Mr. Lowden.

"I have stated publicly that I did not want the nomination unless the Republican party was prepared to meet fully and fairly the agriculture problem," the statement said. "I have waited upon no particular remedy but I have stated at all times if there was a better method than the so-called equalization fee I would gladly accept it. I have urged, however, that the duty of the Republican party to find some way to rescue agriculture from the ruin that threatens it."

Says the Platform Failed.

"This, in my judgment, the convention by its platform just adopted has failed to do."

"I therefore authorize the withdrawal of my name from before the convention."

"Though I cease to be a candidate, my interest in the cause is in no way abated."

Although the withdrawal of Mr. Lowden was the fulfillment of a threat he uttered several weeks ago, his action created a sensation; the convention, when the session convened at 10 o'clock was surprised to find Mr. Lowden had decided to withdraw. This report was strenuously denied even by Senator Deneen, chairman of the Illinois delegation, who asserted that the program to place Lowden in nomination had not been changed.

The statement was greeted with cheers from the ranks of the Hooverites. The anti-Hooverites sat mute. Chairman Moses gavelled for order and said he assumed that there were other nominating speeches to be made and the secretary would proceed with calling the roll of the states for the presentation of candidates.

Wood Nominates Watson.

When it came the turn of Indiana, Congressman Will R. Wood of that state took the platform. He was clutching a manuscript and everybody was wondering whether he was about to announce the withdrawal of Senator Watson.

Mr. Wood soon set all doubt at rest. He said that the situation had changed since he wrote his nominating speech but that he did not intend to withdraw his candidate. He then proceeded to present the name of Senator Watson as an orthodox Republican, the implication of which is that Hoover is not a real Republican.

When Kansas was reached on the roll call former Congressman Tinscher ascended the platform to present the name of Senator Curtis. There was a prolonged demonstration for Curtis, interlarded with shouts from the galleries asking what candidate he intended to withdraw.

"I appear here on behalf of no 'quitter,'" he bellowed Tinscher when he could make himself heard.

Round, good natured Tinscher promised to make his speech short and snappy and kept his word. He praised Curtis as a regular Republican and a statesman and let it go at that.

Next Senator Coffey was placed in nomination by A. A. Lilly of West Virginia, after Chairman Moses had threatened to clear the galleries if order were not maintained. Mr. Lilly presented Senator Coffey as a one hundred per cent American, presumably to contrast him with Hoover who had detractors represent as an alien at heart by virtue of his long residence abroad. With the farmers, he said, the Republican could win, but without them it will lose.

Then came State Senator C. E. Sandall of Nebraska, tendering Senator Norris to the party as its candidate for president.

When Ohio was reached former Congressman Ralph D. Cole came forth with a mystery candidate. He maintained the suspense for several minutes and finally uttered the magic name of Calvin Coolidge.

This was intended to loose the heavens and precipitate the stampede to Coolidge, but it didn't work. There was an outburst of cheering lasting a few seconds and then a hush fell upon the assembly as Mr. Cole disappeared from the limelight.

Then came a succession of seconding speeches for the candidates whose names had been formally presented.

Lowden Refuses to Bolt.

Though Lowden elected to quit the race against hopeless odds, he refused to lead the corn belt out of the old party despite the urgings of the extremists of the farm organizations. He declined to refect the role of the venerable Teller who, with tears streaming down his cheeks, led the free silver Republicans out of the St. Louis convention of 1896.

Lowden set his face sternly against any bolt, any secession from the party. It transpired tonight that he was urged in a conference of corn belt delegation leaders to sanction such a move. This conference was held two days ago when it became apparent not only that Hoover would be nominated by an overwhelming vote, but that the corn belt plank on farm relief would be rejected by a majority no less decisive.

Mark Woods of Nebraska was the ringleader in this conference on the subject to bolt the ticket. There were twenty midwestern states represented, but Woods found little support for his secession scheme or for another move he proposed which was that the corn belt delegates should remain away from the convention during the debate on the platform. He thought this would bring the convention to its senses and cause it to make concessions to get the corn belt delegations back into the party conference.

Deneen Laughs at Move.

Senator Deneen, it appears, was called into this conference and asked if Illinois would join in the third party movement proposed by Mr. Woods. He laughed at the proposal as absurd and gave it as his opinion that Hoover will carry Illinois by 800,000. Even Senator Nye, the radical North Dakotan, was inclined to doubt that a third party movement would get very far in the middle west.

So much cold water was thrown on the movement that the conference broke up without any action being taken.

"The Republican party is on the edge of a precipice. One step and it is over. The party has the brains to solve this problem. We can change twelve words in this farm plank, and it will mean three million votes."

Borah Electrifies Crowd.

Senator William E. Borah of Idaho ripped into McNary-Haugenism. He described it as compulsory cooperation which would place the farmer under the bondage of a bureaucracy. He finished with a eulogy of President Coolidge that brought the delegates to their feet in a demonstration.

"If President Coolidge were nominated," he said, "I venture to say he would carry every agricultural state north of the Mason and Dixon line. Not only that, if certain things should happen at Houston, he would shake the very foundations of the solid south."

In my judgment, Borah declared, the greatest benefit ever given the farmer was when President Coolidge vetoed the McNary-Haugen bill.

"And the time will come when the American farmer will recognize the courage, the statesmanship of the man who vetoed the bill that would have made him a bureaucratic rat."

"There is no power under the Constitution which permits congress to delegate to twelve men the power to impose an equalization fee, or tax, on a citizen. If there were a proposal to amend the Constitution to give that power, the farmers would be the first to fight it."

"The farmer should not be asked to surrender his economic independence, and turn it over to an autocratic board in Washington. Were this done, the American farmer would be the first to burn us in effigy."

Cheer Corn Belt Speakers.

Farmers in the galleries and among the delegations broke out in brief demonstrations from time to time, as the advocates of the "equalization fee" dwelt on the issue.

"If you expect the support of the Republican farmers of the west you must fairly and squarely face this issue," said Smith of Illinois. "The farmers are through with generalities. They will not be satisfied with a plank that is nothing more than was in the 1924 platform. Any expression of sympathy will not suffice. They are looking for something definite and specific."

Frank W. Murphy of Minnesota, who for five years has worked for the McNary-Haugen bill, said:

"My organization represents more than a million farmers. They are tremendously resentful and bitter. Don't make any mistake. We appeal to you not to drive Republican farmers from the corn states out of their party. I hope you will not interpret this as a threat."

Warns of Party Split.

"The McNary-Haugen bill is the issue within the party today. You must meet it head on in a robust way. You can't fool the farmers any more. The majority report is only a repetition of the 1924 pledge, a pledge which has not been redeemed."

The rock on which the party may split in 1928 is the McNary-Haugen bill. The farmers do not believe in Santa Claus and you act as if you believe they do.

"Is the Republican party with the majority in congress who voted for

Lowdens in High Spirits Start Back to Mississippi

Kansas City, Mo., June 14.—(Special.)—Frank O. Lowden left with Mrs. Lowden at 11 o'clock tonight for Mississippi farm at Oregon, Ill., a few hours after his message had been read to the Republican national convention by Otis F. Glenn, withdrawing his name. The former governor of Illinois was in buoyant spirits, but refused to add one word to his formal statement.

"It speaks for itself," he said.

Today he resumes his horseback rides and settles back to the agricultural life.

"This is the start of the back to the farm movement," remarked Mr. Lowden to a group of friends before the party left the Muehlebach hotel.

Withdrawal as a candidate was decided on by Mr. Lowden soon after conclusion of the debate today over the farm plank. The Lowdens in their hotel suite listened to the discussion and the voting over the radio.

Political friends dropped in and discussed the farm plank.

Without consultation with his campaign managers, Mr. Lowden decided on his action. He got in touch with Mr. Glenn, who was all primed with his nominating speech, and notified him of his intentions. The ex-governor placed his prepared statement in Mr. Glenn's hands.

At a late hour tonight Mr. Lowden had not sent a message of congratulation to Secretary Hoover.

The public declaration of how his candidacy depended upon the nature of the farm plank, to which Mr. Lowden referred in his withdrawal message, was made a few weeks ago upon his return from Washington, where he had appeared before the senate committee looking into expenditure of candidates.

Passing through Chicago, Mr. Lowden gave out his first extensive interview since the campaign started.

"I don't want the nomination if the party is not willing to meet the farm issue fairly and squarely," he said. "I do not want the kind of fame that is acquired by an unsuccessful candidacy for the presidency," he added.

Pollettes, which went its customary way into oblivion after Senator "Young Bob" LaFollette had presented it, had a farm plank that declared for the enactment of a measure "embodying the principles of the McNary-Haugen bill."

When the minority report for the principle of the "equalization fee" went to a vote, it got smaller support than the corn belt leaders were looking for. Of the votes cast for it, the three states of Illinois, Indiana and Iowa furnished 118. Corn belt uprisers tonight, analyzing the figures, say the vote was intertwined with the making of the ticket. Hoover delegates in the corn belt naturally voting for a plank upholding the views of Coolidge and Hoover.

The other side, however, is loudly declaring the vote indicates what they have been maintaining, that McNary-Haugenism is not nearly as strong in the midwest as the farm organization leaders have been saying.

Seek Hoover Running Mate Satisfactory to Corn Belt

Kansas City, Mo., June 14.—(Special.)—With the Republican national convention scheduled to complete its ticket in a final session tomorrow, the Hoover leaders are canvassing the middle west for a vice presidential candidate who will appeal to the embittered farmers.

Vice President Dawes and Senator Deneen of Illinois are figuring prominently in the calculations of those who deem it imperative to strengthen the ticket by the nomination for Vice President a man satisfactory to the corn belt.

Deneen Won't Accept.

Senator Deneen, however, has declared that he will not accept the nomination and nobody knows whether Gen. Dawes will consent to run again.

Senator Jim Watson of Indiana telephoned Gen. Dawes tonight and asked him if he would accept renomination. The Vice President, according to Senator Watson, replied:

"How can I say whether I would accept or reject the nomination? It has not been offered to me and I have not seen the platform."

Six Leading Candidates.

In addition to Vice President Dawes and Mr. Deneen, the other leading possibilities for second place on the ticket are:

Representative John Q. Tilson of Connecticut.

Senator Charles Curtis of Kansas.

Senator George H. Moses of New Hampshire.

Former Gov. Henry J. Allen of Kansas.

Gov. Alvan T. Fuller of Massachusetts.

The name of Col. Hanford MacNider of Iowa, former assistant secretary of war, would be included in this list were it not for his youth. He is extremely popular in the state of Iowa and the American Legion for the place but the leaders think the convention would be unlikely to nominate so young a man. He is in his 37th year.

It is expected, however, that he will receive a large complimentary vote on the first ballot. Iowa will present his name.

Will Be Put Up to Hoover.

That the choice of his running mate will be put up to Mr. Hoover by long distance telephone before the convention meets in its final session is understood to be the intention of James W. Good, manager of the Hoover candidacy.

It is customary to allow the nominee for President an opportunity to say whom he would prefer for his running mate. Not that the convention is bound to comply with the preference expressed. Far from it. The Cleveland convention four years ago would have none of the candidates for which Mr. Coolidge expressed a preference, and consulting its own preference chose Gen. Dawes.

And Mr. Coolidge himself, at the very moment he was being so flouted, owed his high place to the refusal of the convention of 1920 to abide by the wishes of the presidential nominee, Mr. Harding, and the senate cabal that Senator Lenoire be second place.

There is no doubt, however, that the matter will be put to Mr. Hoover. If he expresses a preference, Mr. Good will give the choice to his cohorts to put Mr. Good's choice across.

In command of a jolt of the convention to Hooverites can easily nominate the man of their choice. And it is in command of a jolt of the convention to put Mr. Hoover's choice across.

May Turn Thumbs Down on Dawes.

It would occasion no surprise if Hoover were to turn thumbs down on Gen. Dawes. The secretary of the convention, the Vice President, has widely divergent views on many subjects. There is reason to believe that Mr. Hoover shares, to some extent, the resentment felt by his cohorts against the Vice President in the anti-Hoover campaign in the primary campaigns in Ohio, Indiana, West Virginia, and other states.

Mr. Hoover should reject Dawes, the friends of the general should decide to fight there would be a lot for the Hoover forces are by no means a unit in opposition to the Vice President. What with the contest for him and eastern Hooverites, Hoover were to reject him, the presidential possibilities would be of defeating.

Fuller Not Candidate.

Boston, Mass., June 14.—(Special.)—Gov. Alvin T. Fuller did not want to accept a nomination as President if it were offered him, tonight. He said he was not a candidate, but that is as far as he went. "I am not a candidate for office," said Gov. Fuller over the phone tonight from his summer home at Rye, N. H.

When Hoover's Name Was Placed in Nomination at Kansas City

This picture was taken during the twenty-five minutes' frenzy which followed the nominating address made by John L. McNab of California. During this period the delegates paraded through the hall, carrying the state standards and the giant picture of Hoover, which is shown in the foreground. California led the parade and it was joined in by all except a dozen of the states.

MOSES SENDS MESSAGE NOTIFYING HOOVER OF HIS NOMINATION

Convention Hall, Kansas City, Mo., June 14.—(P)—The following telegram was sent to Herbert Hoover tonight by Senator Moses, chairman of the Republican convention:

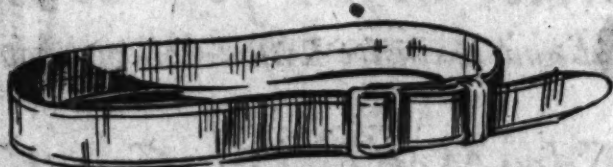

"The Republican national convention tonight by a sweeping majority which has since been made unanimous, amidst great enthusiasm, has named you as its candidate for the presidency in this campaign. No message of information which I have ever sent to any one has given me as much satisfaction as this to you. I send it in the name of a united, enthusiastic and militant party organization which has turned to you as the inevitable leader in the contest which confronts us."

"It is not so much that we give you this nomination as that you have earned the right to it. Your training, your equipment, and above all, your character, make you the leader for whom the party has looked in order that there may be no halting in the progress of the United States under policies which are warmly approved by the people and to which you have contributed so much."

"The convention, still in session, would appreciate a message from you and I hope that you may be able to speedily send it us."

HOOVER HAPPY BUT SILENT AS HE HEARS NEWS

Greets Reporters, Wife Kisses Him.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] Washington, D. C., June 15.—(Special.)—Herbert Hoover's acceptance of the Republican nomination was expressed in smiles rather than words. The news of his selection was brought to him over the radio as he sat in his den surrounded by his immediate family and a few intimate friends who had spent the evening in the Hoover home listening to the minute-by-minute returns from Kansas City.

Meets Newspaper Men. When the final tabulation of the vote showed him to be the overwhelming choice of the Republican convention, he turned with a smile to his wife. She kissed him. He immediately called for the newspaper men who had gathered at his home to congratulate him.

"I have no comment to make," Mr. Hoover said, his face beaming with smiles. "But I may have something to say later," he added. A reporter spoke up.

"The newspaper men want to congratulate you on your nomination and thank you for your hospitality."

"I want to thank you for coming," Mr. Hoover answered. "I may have something to say later."

Not Yet Notified. "Have you wired the convention?" "Not yet," replied Mr. Hoover. "I haven't been notified yet of the nomination."

Happiness shone in every feature of the secretary's face as he turned again to his friends who were joyfully congratulating him. Although the evening had cooled off after a scorching hot day, Secretary Hoover's face was red. He wore a dark brown light-weight business suit, but it failed to keep him cool in the face of the emotional excitement.

Jars Unfurled Calm. There was no doubt in the minds of the reporters that something had at last been found sufficient to jar Mr. Hoover out of his usual unfurled calm.

The secretary flatly refused to discuss the political situation or to name the date when he would go west for his vacation. It was admitted by his associates that he will go to Palo Alto some time this summer and formally will accept the nomination there. Just when he will resign from the department of commerce was not stated.

The secretary with members of his family and neighbors well acquainted with the pleasant rooms of the Hoover home at 3380 S. Street spent the early

CURTIS TO SUPPORT HOOVER; HE'S SILENT ON VICE PRESIDENCY

Kansas City, Mo., June 14.—(P)—Hardly had the Republican convention nominated Herbert Hoover for the presidency tonight before Senator Curtis of Kansas declared that he was "for whomever was nominated" and that he would do his utmost for the party standard bearer in the forthcoming campaign.

Asked whether he was now a candidate for the vice presidential post on the ticket, the Kansan said he would "not even talk to my grandmother about that." Questioned further, Curtis asserted forcibly that he would not discuss the vice presidency "with any one on earth."

Watson Could Not Be Reached. Kansas City, Mo., June 14.—(P)—Senator James E. Watson of Indiana, defeated candidate for the presidential nomination, could not be reached for a statement regarding his future course of action.

part of the evening together listening in the drawing room to the radio story of the convention. Among others who joined the secretary and his family about the radio were Assistant Attorney General and Mrs. William J. Donovan, United States Supreme Court Justice and Mrs. Harlan F. Stone, Mrs. William E. Ross, wife of the senator from Idaho, and Dr. and Mrs. Vernon Kellogg.

Secretary Hoover listened attentively while his friend, John McNab, extolled his virtues and called for his nomination at the hands of the Republican convention. The air was surcharged with confidence, but no word was spoken by the circle surrounding Mr. Hoover as the loud speaker clearly carried the words of the California orator into the privacy of the Hoover home.

Only three times was the silence broken. Once they clapped when the speaker referred to Hoover as the man who will be the next President. On another occasion applause greeted Mr. McNab's assertion that Hoover was the logical and the best man to succeed Mr. Coolidge.

There was no cheering in the drawing room when former Representative Cole of Ohio placed President Coolidge in nomination. What little tension there was increased noticeably after that.

The tension lifted as the convention turned to other candidates and Senator Moses (Rep., N. H.), the permanent chairman, recognized the spokesman for Senator Curtis (Rep., Kan.), President Coolidge, Senator Goff (Rep., Va.), and Senator Norris (Rep., Neb.).

Cries of "Isn't that fine?" "It's great!" and applause came from the drawing room during the early balloting. A prolonged cheer went up as New York cast its ninety votes for Hoover and the nomination was won.

McNAB PRAISES HOOVER, 'SERVANT OF THE COUNTRY'

Nominates Official of 'Con- structive Policies.'

Kansas City, Mo., June 14.—(AP)—The address of John L. McNab, placing Herbert Hoover in nomination follows:

"California's delegation, elected by 900,000 voters in an unopposed primary, presents to you for the presidency of the United States America's greatest administrator in human welfare—Herbert Hoover."

"But we of this delegation are merely the voices that bring his name before this great assembly."

"Little doubt exists in the mind of any one that if the man we shall present to you is selected by this convention, he will become the next President of the United States."

"It is not under the hypnotic spell of this great convention, swayed by emotion, that this nomination alone is to be made. Already he has been nominated by the rising and restless sentiment of the men and women of the United States."

Supported by Nation's Women.

"The end of the great war has released forces no man can measure. Old political faiths have been shaken to their foundations. Ancient slogans and symbols have lost their potency to charm. Millions of young men have grown to manhood since the signing of the armistice. They are independent, thinking men. They have little reverence for political creeds and no patience with ancient history. They live in the present. They look to the future. Their demand is for a greater and finer America—an America of widened opportunities and greater hope for the common man."

"I can hear the approaching tread of these unnumbered millions of brothers and some whose hearts are bound up in the future of the republic. Their faith is fixed upon the man whose name we shall here place before you. They will follow him more enthusiastically than any other leader in the country. He has interpreted their hopes. He understands their cravings. He has been able to satisfy their longings for the better things of life. They recognize in him a Republican who has been able to bend the finest energies of the republic to the service of the men and women who compose the home life of the United States."

Vital Help in Coolidge Role.

"Our people are aroused to the need of a strong, courageous man to carry forward the constructive policies of a great administration."

"This historic party of achievement has never been able to submit to the American people a greater record of constructive human action than the administration of Calvin Coolidge. And of the constructive part of that administration, from its inception, Herbert Hoover has been a vital and intimate part."

"History will not overlook the fact that the execution of the great emergency measures of the administration have been committed by the President and his secretary of commerce."

"He has been to his chief and leader a loyal and devoted aide, a powerful and understanding friend, a never failing supporter in all his constructive designs."

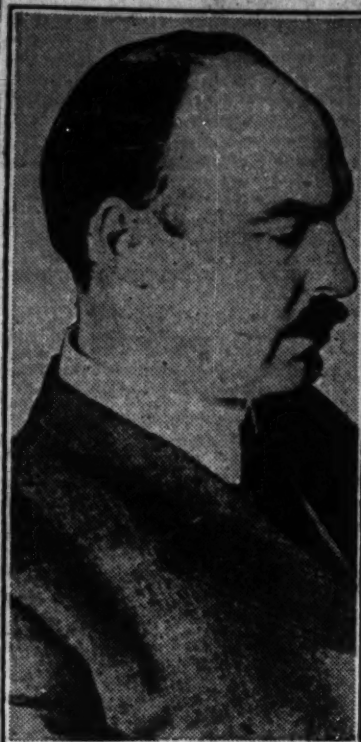

"In a cabinet of singularity strong and sympathetic men he has worked with his colleagues in that spirit of comradeship and cooperation which has distinguished all his public efforts, whether at home or abroad."

Typifies Forward Looking American.

"There is something spiritual in this universal call of the people for this man. It is not based on political expediency. It is the result of the public will that the constructive policies of a Republican administration shall control this nation and the conviction that Herbert Hoover, of all living men, best represents the genius, pure and undefiled, of wholesome and forward looking Americanism."

"The story of his life is an epic of modern achievement. Descended from seven generations of American ancestry, his career is a living example of the heights to which pure Americanism, by sustained effort and devotion, may reach.

Nominates Hoover

John McNab of San Francisco, who put the secretary of commerce before the convention at Kansas City.

"At the age of four, death took his father from beside the forge in the state of Iowa. That loss was compensated in the life which followed for he was reared in the sweet and tolerant atmosphere of an American Quaker home."

"The spirit of forbearance and patience which has marked his career through life was bred in him by those who guided the steps of his infancy."

"He emerged into public life in the first class of engineers to leave Stanford university. With pick in hand he mucked as a common laborer in the drifts of the old Mayflower mine in California. There were laid the foundations of that enduring sympathy he has always shown for the laboring man. But he has been no less the consistent and constructive friend of industry and commerce."

His Career Dramatic.

"The aspirations of the average man of America have been glorified by this man's efforts. Around the sufferings of mankind have been woven the warp and woof of one of the most dramatic careers in history."

"The world's greatest war broke suddenly on a startled world. He, with countless Americans, chanced to be in the city of London. The great war machine rolled over Belgium leaving starvation and ruin in its wake. Here indeed was a cause that called for all the spirituality and vision of man."

"He heard the old cry that for over a hundred years has rung out over the waters of an angry sea—'Women and children first.' He heard the cry and answered. In the presence of giant and tottering children he knew neither friend nor foe. To him, hunger and innocence knew no nationality. Millions knocked at hunger's gate."

"To organize relief; to secure the funds; to buy foodstuffs; to ship them across seas that swarmed with submarines; to negotiate with governments, fierce and intolerant with the passions of war; to placate angry and imperious generals; to get food to the starving and the starving to the food—here was a task such as never before confronted man. The feeding of those hungry children is the greatest practical romance in history."

Called to War Service.

"The call came overseas from his beloved homeland. The United States had cast her lot in the great struggle. He was named food administrator. Full well he knew the perils of that station. Full well he understood that the proper execution of the task would probably mean the graveyard of all political hope."

"From the day he was appointed he insisted that the one essential group in America that must have protection was the American farmer. To quicken production; to stimulate industry; to feed armies at a price that governments could afford to pay; to resist the mercantile profiteer, and to see that the farmer received the just return for his product was a task that called for both statesmanship and courage."

"He imposed none of the crushing regulations which drove European peoples to despair. He enforced no drastic rationing upon the American people. He appealed to their cooperative patriotism. He brought farmers, business men, and the women of the country into a union of patriotic effort."

Solved Food Problem.

"His measures trebled the surplus food in the United States. When the armistice came he saw with the prophetic vision of a seer the peril that awaited the farmer and producer. Already food supplies were on hand for another year of gigantic combat. With the supplies of the southern hemisphere freed to European markets he saw American agriculture faced with the greatest peril in its history."

"Europe repudiated its contracts to buy the hogs and wheat of American farmers. Damming back that flood on the markets of the United States meant ruin from which our agriculturists would not have recovered in a quarter of a century."

"He compelled the disposal in Europe of the huge surplus of farm products. To him is due the early opening of the blockade on Germany. Had it not been for his prestige and his genius of persuasion the doors of Europe would have been locked to the product of our fields and American agriculture would have crashed beyond all hope of recovery."

Wants Farmer Placed on Equality.

"Herbert Hoover believes that the nation owes a special responsibility to agriculture as one of the great basic industries upon which our happiness and prosperity rest. He believes that rational measures must be taken to the end that the farm producer shall be placed on an equality with the industrial producer."

"This great economist has solved every other economic problem that has come within his reach in a spirit of equality and justice. He who has mastered every other problem can be trusted by the American farm producer to propose the measures that will bring lasting relief to the agriculture of the United States."

"Summoned by a Republican president, Herbert Hoover commenced the greatest romance of modern industrial life. He became the head of the department of commerce. He found in the Republican cabinet a field for expanding usefulness."

"What a benefice he has made that department to the business and industrial world!"

"It would be an endless task to here review his widely diversified efforts while head of the department of commerce. He has quickened the industrial activities of the nation. He has proved that government business and morals go hand in hand."

"It was his initiative that prevented the spread of unemployment which had brought stagnation and despair to the rest of the world. He fought to a triumphant conclusion a world wide monopoly which threatened the rubber purchasers of America."

"He has made the department of commerce the most useful instrument for the advancement of the new economic world."

"In the midst of crowding duties came a call that stirred his soul. Human suffering once more was at the gate."

"The Mississippi—that mighty stream of American history. Since the great war the United States has become the center of the economic and industrial world. Vast forces fraught with evil if uncontrolled, freighted with blessings if understood, are in motion."

"To whom should the President turn in such an hour of crisis?"

"To whom but to the administrator whose public life had been a series of crowning triumphs in meeting human emergencies."

"To whom but to the man whose name we present to you this day?"

"If the American people a quarter of a century ago had set about the task of preparing a man for the presidency, how could they have done more to equip him for those vast responsibilities than through the experiences which have made up the romance of this man's life?"

"He may be called the creature of his age. In many respects his age will be the reflection of himself."

Passion for Public Service.

"If there is one quality which dominates his life—one overmastering desire that animates his every act, it is the passion to serve his country. With in his soul there glows that strong, robust, militant Americanism—that Americanism that will not be satisfied until it achieves its ultimate aim—the advancement of the welfare of the people of the United States."

"We are living in a swiftly changing era of American history. Since the great war the United States has become the center of the economic and industrial world. Vast forces fraught with evil if uncontrolled, freighted with blessings if understood, are in motion."

"No one is so fitted by years of training and experience; no one is so adapted by temperament and sympathy to direct these forces to the betterment of his country as this wholesome son of the sturdy forebears of the middle west."

Tribute to Personal Qualities.

"All the world knows his public service, but only the few understand his graciousness and kindness as a human being. He is no superman in private life. He loves his friends. He likes to laugh and play. He loves the world and craves its affection in return. Whether at home among his neighbors, with his companions on the fishing stream, or in the intimacy of his workshop, he is everywhere the considerate, refreshing human being."

"Those who know him forget the powerful executive and are lost in the charm of a rare companionship."

"The people of this country are soon to learn that the Hoover who fed the hungry and sheltered the homeless on the banks of the Mississippi is one of the most human of men."

"And now we dedicate this man to a greater public service."

Therefore, in the name of California, and on behalf of our countrymen everywhere, I nominate the man in whom the hopes and prayers of the people are met."

"I name him who rose from poverty to feed more hungry people than any man in the history of the world."

"I nominate him because he has labored with his hands and mind on the problem of the food."

"I name him as a great statesman who understands the problems of inland waterways and the vast sources of river and lake and sea."

"I name him as a great humanitarian, who in the midst of a war war gave his best that human beings might live and live abundantly."

"I nominate him because as administrator of great projects he has failed to leave a record of unproductive usefulness."

Has Respect of World.

"I name him as statesman and executive whose unflinching courage and flexible Americanism, and understanding of nations and peoples have given him a grasp of national and international affairs that commands respect throughout the world."

"I nominate him for his lofty character as a man and citizen; for broad and kindly human sympathies for his wholesome heart that reaches above all things else that he has been useful to the people of his native land."

"Engineer, practical politician, negotiator, executive, statesman, humanitarian, kindly neighbor, wholesome human being, I give you the name of Herbert Hoover."

CITY FOLK WANT RUM; SWINDLERS OF COWS ASK AID

Why Not Trade Even?
Pegler's View.

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

Kansas City, Mo., June 14.—[Special.]—Let me say to begin that I know nothing about farming except that a farmer goes into conference with a cow, which is a beast with a trusting nature, and swindles her out of some milk. The only two farmers that I know personally are Farmer Joe Cooper, the welterweight, and Farmer Lodge, the heavyweight. Farmer Lodge used to catch for Jack Dempsey in his training camps. They are not Lindberghs but nice boys at that.

I know another man who runs a place called a health farm down in Jersey, but he buys his milk from the milk man and his farm is just a place where a man can cool out and tape off when he begins to get elephants.

Now, even if it seems callous to say so, it is true nevertheless, that when Mr. Murphy, that tall, strident man from Minnesota, was delivering his plea and threat on behalf of the farmers at the Republican convention this morning, there were several dry eyes in the hall.

More Work, Less Money.
Mr. Murphy intimated some of the farmers had been forced to sell out because the harder they worked the more money they lost and only by better work could they get an even break.

While he was passing these remarks I thought of some statistics that Mr. William H. Anderson, that wonderful man who used to be head man of the auction business in New York, once favored me with, showing that the principal reason why Perry's cocktail bar on Park Row had altered into a Greek confectionery store and Jack's suit had become a shirt store, and the Waldorf bar a murky tomb, was that a lot of farmers—virtually all the farmers—in Iowa, Kansas, Minnesota, the Dakotas, and so forth, did not want the New York people to drink liquor.

Mr. Anderson's arguments endeavored to show that these farmers did this because they were afraid the New York people would fall into sin while drunk and go to hell, which would have been pretty nervy of them if true, sin being no strictly urban phenomenon, but nothing ever will convince the New York people but that these farmers did this merely because they saw an opportunity to boss the city people and prevent them from enjoying one of the things which they enjoyed most.

City Folk Sore.
So the city people have been sore at the farmers in a sullen, smoldering way ever since, and when they read Mr. Murphy's really tragic description of the plight of the farmers now they will surely recall their needle beer sandwiches, and remembering who did this to them, they will say, "Well, ha, ha, that is just too bad, Mr. Murphy." I do not know whether the city people are in a position to ameliorate the plight of the farmers just now, if they are and the plea should come to them they would not be vindictive.

HOOVER'S HOME TOWN TO CELEBRATE—WITH FIREWORKS AND ALL

West Branch, Ia., June 14.—[AP.]—Herbert Hoover's old home town was in a state of suspense today as its residents grouped around radio receivers waiting for word of his nomination at Kansas City.

One hundred per cent pride was felt by local people as they followed developments at the Republican convention where more than a majority of the delegates are pledged to support the man who left here as an orphan when ten years old.

Tomorrow night West Branch is planning a celebration, when the little Quaker village will indulge in such festivities as a parade, noise makers and fireworks. A speaker has been engaged—A. F. Dawson, a Davenport banker, former congressman, and strong supporter of Secretary Hoover.

W. P. Anderson, local business man who is vice president of the West Branch Hoover club, which boasts 500 members, returned from Kansas City today to assist in preparations for tomorrow's celebration.

but I dare say they would protect themselves in the clinches.

Willing to Trade.
They would merely say, "Well, Mr. Farmer, we will trade you some of this farm relief thing for Perry's bar in good condition and Jack's and the old whirling dance floor at Murray's and a written promise to mind your own business after this."

It might be a good idea for some genuine cow swindlers to distinguish from leaders of the farm vote, who are politicians and therefore not to be trusted, to go into a compromise meeting with some rather average city people, because they would learn that most city women work just as hard as farm women do and for just as bleak an existence.

After Mr. Murphy of Minnesota had finished picturing the laborious and wretched life of the farm wife at the convention today, somebody, in order to show that all are not farmers who suffer, should have taken the platform to tell about the factory and store girls in New York, who pile into the subway at 5 o'clock all in from their work, to ride home in dirtier cars than any cattle are shipped in, squashed and handled by dirty men, and who aren't anywhere when they do get home.

Why Not Explain?

Somebody should have explained that when a farm girl's fellow wants to take her out for a little high pressure hand holding in the cool of the evening, he can afford at least a silver, whereas a soda clerk in New York can't, and if he takes his girl to Central park some gorilla is likely to step out of the shrubs with a gun. All through Mr. Murphy's address on behalf of the farmers, the question recurred to me whether the farmers, not really caring at heart whether city people sin and go to hell or not, would persist in prohibition, if somebody should put it to them concretely and workably that in return for waiving prohibition they could have everything they are demanding. Mr. Murphy said they were about to invoke the law of self-preservation and vote for the Democratic nominee if turned down by the Republican party, so I took it that if such a proposition were put to them they would tell the city people to go ahead and drink in return for farm relief.

FULL TEXT OF G. O. P. PLATFORM, PARTY HAILED AS PROSPERITY BUILDER

HIGH WAGE LEVEL PROMISED UNDER REPUBLICAN RULE

Assistance for Agriculture on Its Program.

Kansas City, Mo., June 13.—(Special.)—High points in the platform as approved today by the Republican convention are:

Endorsement of the Coolidge administration and a pledge to continue the Coolidge policies as a guarantee of prosperity and the promotion of American interests.

Praise for achievements of the administration in public economy, finance, tax reduction, and debt retirement.

Reaffirmation of belief in the protective tariff and promise of an upward revision of rates, both to aid certain industries and to provide greater protection for agriculture.

Opposition to the cancellation of foreign debts.

Approval of the proposal of Secretary of State Kellogg for a multilateral treaty with other nations renouncing war as an instrument of national policy and declaring in favor of pacific settlement of international disputes.

Continued support of American rights in Mexico and strengthening of friendship and confidence with that nation.

Co-operation with the government of Nicaragua to restore and maintain peace, order, and stability, but in no way to infringe upon her sovereign rights.

Retention of sufficient naval and military forces in China to protect lives of Americans there, but without interference in the internal affairs of that nation.

Restoration of opposition to membership in the league of nations but an expression of a willingness to co-operate in its humanitarian and technical work without becoming involved in European politics.

Recognition of the agricultural problem and a pledge for the enactment of legislation creating a federal farm board and other measures to place agriculture on a basis of economic equality with other industry.

Support of any feasible plan for the stabilization of the coal mining industry which will work with justice to miners, consumers and producers.

Continued development of inland and intra-coastal waterways.

Full and adequate relief for disabled war veterans and a liberalization of laws applicable to veterans' relief.

Observance and vigorous enforcement of the eighteenth amendment.

Honesty in government and prosecution of any officials who subordinate public duty to personal interest.

A pledge of publicity of campaign expenditures during the coming presidential campaign.

Continuation of the present restrictive immigration policy.

Approval of a building program to round out and maintain the navy in all types of combat ships to the full rate provided for the United States in the arms conference treaties.

Endorsement of proposed legislation authorizing the President, in the event of another war, to draft not only men power but material resources, and to stabilize prices of services and essential commodities.

Endorsement of the Coolidge leadership.

Never has the soundness of Republican policies been more amply demonstrated and the Republican genius of administration been better exemplified than during the last five years under the leadership of President Coolidge.

No better guarantee of prosperity and contentment among our people at home, no more reliable warranty of protection and promotion of American interests abroad, can be given than the pledge to maintain and extend the Coolidge policies. This promise we give and will faithfully perform.

Under this administration the country has been lifted from the depths of a great depression to a level of prosperity. Economy has been related to the dignity of a principle of government. A standard of character in public service has been established under the chief executive, which has given to the people of the country a feeling of stability and confidence so all have felt encouraged to proceed on new undertakings in trade and commerce. A foreign policy based on the traditional American position and carried on with vision and steadfastness has extended American influence throughout the world and everywhere promoted and protected American interests.

The mighty contribution to general well-being which can be made by a government controlled by men of character and courage, whose abilities are equal to their responsibilities, is self-evident and should not blind us to the consequences which its loss would entail.

Level of Wages Maintained.

Under this administration, a high level of wages and living has been established and maintained. The door of opportunity has been opened wide to all. It has given to our people great comfort and leisure, and the mutual profit has been evident in the increasingly harmonious relations between employers and employees, and the steady rise by promotion of the men in the shops to places at the second tables of the industries. It also has been made evident by the increasing enrollments of our youth in the technical schools and colleges, the increase in savings and life insurance accounts, and by our ability, as a people, to lend the hand of success not only to those overcome by disasters in our own country but in foreign lands. With all these things a steady decrease in the burden of federal taxation, relating to the people the greatest possible portion of the results of their labor from government exactions.

Our Most Favored Nation.

For the Republican party we are justified in claiming a major share of the credit for the position which the United States occupies today as the most favored nation on the globe, and it is well to remember that the confidence and prosperity which we enjoy can be shattered, if not destroyed, if this belief in the honesty and economy of our government is in any way affected. A continuation of this great public peace of mind now existing, which makes for our material well-being, is only possible by holding fast to the principles and policies that have marked Republican control.

The record of the present administration is a guarantee of what may be expected of the next. Our words have been made deeds. We offer not promises but accomplishments.

PUBLIC ECONOMY

U. S. Citizen Has Right to Be Protected from Unwise Spending.

The citizen and taxpayer has a natural right to be protected from unnecessary and wasteful expenditures. This is a right but also a growing nation with constantly increasing legitimate demands for public funds. If we are able to spend wisely and meet these requirements, it is first necessary that we save wisely. Spending extravagantly not only deprives men through taxation of the fruits of their labor, but oftentimes means the post-

The record of the present administration is a guarantee of what may be expected of the next. Our words have been made deeds. We offer not promises but accomplishments.

PUBLIC ECONOMY

U. S. Citizen Has Right to Be Protected from Unwise Spending.

The citizen and taxpayer has a natural right to be protected from unnecessary and wasteful expenditures. This is a right but also a growing nation with constantly increasing legitimate demands for public funds. If we are able to spend wisely and meet these requirements, it is first necessary that we save wisely. Spending extravagantly not only deprives men through taxation of the fruits of their labor, but oftentimes means the post-country can utilize without jeopardizing its economic structure.

The United States is the largest customer in the world today. If we were not prosperous and able to buy, the rest of the world also would suffer. It is inconceivable that American labor ever will consent to the abolition of protection, which would bring down the level of that in Europe, or that the enormous consuming power of the people in this country be curtailed and its markets at home, if not destroyed, at least seriously impaired.

FOREIGN DEBTS

Enormous Sums Are Funded; Settlement Agreement with Russia Pending.

In accordance with our settled policy and platform pledges debt settlement agreements have been negotiated with all of our foreign debtors with the exception of Armenia, Russia. That with France remains as yet unratified. Those with Greece and Austria are before the congress for necessary authority. If the French debt settlement be included, the total amount funded is $11,522,354,000. We have steadfastly opposed and will continue to oppose cancellation of foreign debts.

We have no desire to be oppressive or grasping, but we hold that obligations justly incurred should be honorably discharged. We know of no authority which would permit public officials, acting as trustees, to shift the burden of the war from the shoulders of foreign taxpayers to those of our own people. We believe that the settlements agreed to are fair to both the debtor nation and to the American taxpayer. Our debt settlement took into full consideration the economic condition and resources of the debtor nations, and were ever mindful that they must be permitted to preserve and improve their economic position, to bring their budgets into balance, to place their currencies and finances on a sound basis, and to improve the standard of living of their people. Giving full weight to these considerations, we know of no fairer test than ability to pay, justly estimated.

The people can rely on the Republican party to adhere to a foreign debt policy now definitely established and clearly understood, both at home and abroad.

CLAIM SETTLEMENTS

The President Approves Act; Traditional Policy for Respect of Property Adhered to.

A satisfactory solution has been found for the question of war claims. The act approved by the President on March 10, 1928, was made for the settlement of war claims of the United States and its citizens against the German, Austrian and Hungarian governments and of the claims of the nationals of these governments against the United States, and for the return to its owners of the property seized by the alien property custodian during the war, in accordance with our traditional policy for respect of private property.

FOREIGN POLICIES

Administration Strives to Build Up Cordial Relations, Best Peace Foundation.

We approve the foreign policies of the administration of President Coolidge. We believe they express the will of the American people in working actively to build up cordial international understanding and to make world peace a permanent reality. We endorse the proposal of the secretary of state for a multilateral treaty proposed to the principal powers of the world and open to the signatures of all nations to renounce war as an instrument of national policy and declaring in favor of pacific settlement of international disputes, the first step in outlawing war. The idea has gained widespread approval, both of governments and of the people, and the conclusion of the treaty will be hailed as the greatest single step in history toward the conservation of peace.

In the same endeavor to substitute for war the peaceful settlement of international disputes, the administration has concluded arbitration treaties in a form more definite and more inclusive than ever before and plans to negotiate similar treaties with all countries willing in this manner to define their policy peacefully to settle justifiable disputes. In connection with these, we endorse the resolution of the sixth Pan-American conference held in Havana, Cuba, this year, which called a conference on arbitration and conciliation to meet in Washington during the year and express our confidence that such conference will greatly further the principles of international arbitration.

Will Demand Protection.

We shall continue to demand the same respect and protection for the persons and property of American citizens in foreign countries that we cheerfully accord in this country to him to the full extent of his ability to supply it. Agriculture derives large benefits not only directly from the protective duties levied on competitive farm products of foreign origin, but also, indirectly, from the increase in the purchasing power of American workmen employed in industries similarly protected. These benefits extend also to persons engaged in trade, transportation, and other activities.

WORLD TRADE GROWS

Tariff Law Does Not Hamper Natural Growth of American Agriculture.

The tariff act of 1922 has justified itself in the expansion of our foreign trade during the past five years. Our domestic exports have increased from $3.5 billion in 1922 to $4.5 billion in 1927. During the same period imports have increased from $3.1 billion to $4.4 billion. Contrary to the prophecies of its critics, the present tariff law has not hampered the natural growth in the exportation of the products of American agriculture, industry, and mining, nor has it restricted the importation of foreign commodities which this ways will be, a firm friendship with Canada. American and Canadian interests rest in a large measure identical. Our relationship is one of fine mutual understanding and the recent exchange of diplomatic officers between the two countries is worthy of commendation.

The United States has an especial interest in the advancement and progress of all the Latin American countries. The policy of the Republican party always will be a policy of thorough friendship and cooperation. In the case of Nicaragua, we are engaged in cooperation with the government of that country upon the task of assisting to restore and maintain peace, order and stability, and in no way to infringe upon her sovereign rights. The marines now in Nicaragua are there to protect American lives and property and to aid in carrying out an agreement whereby we have undertaken to do what we can to restore and maintain order and to insure a fair and free election. Our policy absolutely repudiates any idea of conquest or exploitation, and is aimed solely to assist in friendly and neighboring states which have appealed for aid in a great emergency. It is the same policy the United States has pursued in other cases in Central America.

Sympathies With China.

The administration has looked with keen sympathy on the tragic events in China. We have avoided interference in the internal affairs of that unhappy nation merely keeping sufficient naval and military forces in China to protect the lives of the Americans who are there on legitimate business and in still larger numbers for humanitarian reasons. America has not been stampeded into making reprisals but, on the other hand, has constantly taken the position of leadership among the nations in a policy of wise moderation. We shall always be of assistance to China when our duty is clear.

The Republican party maintains the traditional American policy of non-interference in the political affairs of other nations. This government has definitely refused membership in the League of Nations and to assume obligations under the covenant of the league. On this we stand.

In accordance, however, with the long established American practice of giving aid and assistance to other people in need, we have cheerfully assisted by cooperation in the humanitarian and technical work undertaken by the league, without involving ourselves in European politics by accepting membership.

New Markets Opened Up.

The Republican party always has given and will continue to give its support to the development of American foreign trade, which makes for domestic prosperity. During this administration extraordinary strides have been made in opening up new markets for American produce and manufactures. A mutually better international understanding has been reached which aids in the maintenance of world peace.

The Republican party promises a firm and consistent support of American interests in all parts of the world. This support never will contravene the rights of other nations. It always will have in mind and support in any way the progressive development of international law, since it is through the operation of just laws, as well as through the growth of friendly understanding, that world peace will be made permanent. To that end and the aid and assist in the perfection of principles of international law and the settlement of international disputes.

CIVIL SERVICE

Merit System Originated and Developed; Better Wages Advocated.

The merit system in government service originated with and has been developed by the Republican party. The great majority of our public service employees are now secured through the merit system in the government service rules. Steps already have been taken by the Republican congress to make the service more attractive as to wages and retirement privileges, and we commend what has been done as a step in the right direction.

AGRICULTURE

The Party Promises a Solution; Realizes Farmers Are Facing Grave Problems.

The agricultural problem is national in scope and as such is recognized by the Republican party, which pledges its strength and energy to the solution of the same. Realizing that many farmers are facing problems more difficult than those which are the portion of the industrial workers, the party is anxious to aid in every way possible. Many of our farmers still are going through readjustments, a relic of the years directly following the great war. All the farmers are being called on to meet new and perplexing conditions created by foreign competition, the complexities of domestic marketing, labor problems, and a steady increase in local and state taxes.

The general depression in a great basic industry inevitably reacts upon the conditions in the country as a whole and cannot be ignored. It is a matter of satisfaction that the desire to help in the correction of agricultural wrongs are now secured through the merit system in the government service rules. Steps already have been taken by the Republican congress to make the service more attractive as to wages and retirement privileges, and we commend what has been done as a step in the right direction.

International Lab., Rochester, N. Y.

during the last five years, have settled many of the most distressing problems as they have arisen, and the achievements in aid of agriculture are properly a part of this record. The Republican congresses have been most responsive in the matter of agricultural appropriations, not only to meet crop emergencies, but for the extension and development of the activities of the department of agriculture.

American Farmer Helped.

The protection of the American farmer against foreign farm competition and foreign trade practices has been vigorously carried on by the department of state. The intent of the farm bill to engage in collective buying and cooperative selling as provided for by the Capper-Volstead act of 1922 has been promulgated through the department of justice, which have given most valuable aid and assistance to the heads of the farm organizations. The treasury department and the proper committees of congress have lightened the tax burden on farming communities, and through the federal farm loan system there has been made available to the farmers of the nation, one billion eight hundred fifty millions of dollars for loaning purposes at a low rate of interest, and through the intermediate credit banks, six hundred fifty-five million dollars of short term credits have been made available to the farmers. The post office department has systematically and generously extended the rural free delivery routes into even the most sparsely settled communities.

Ships Pressed Into Service.

When a shortage of transportation facilities threatened to deprive the farmers of their opportunity to reach waiting markets overseas, the President, appreciative and sensitive of the conditions and the possible loss to the communities, ordered the reconditioning of shipping board vessels, thus relieving a great emergency.

Last, but not least, the federal tariff commission has at all times shown a willingness under the provisions of the flexible tariff act to aid farmers when foreign competition, made possible by low wage scales abroad, threatened to deprive our farmers of their domestic markets. Under this act the President has increased duties on wheat, flour, mill feed, and dairy products. Numerous other farm products now are being investigated by the tariff commission.

We promise every assistance in the reorganization of the marketing system on sounder and more economical lines and, where diversification is needed, government financial assistance during the period of transition.

Favors U. S. Farm Board.

The Republican party pledges itself to the enactment of legislation creating a federal farm board, clothed with the necessary powers to promote the establishment of farm owned and controlled stabilization corporations, or associations to prevent and control surpluses through orderly distribution.

We favor adequate tariff protection to such of our agricultural products as are affected by foreign competition. We favor, without putting the government into business, the establishment of a federal system of organization for cooperative and orderly marketing of farm products.

The vigorous efforts of this administration towards broadening our export markets will be continued.

The Republican party pledges itself to the development and enactment of measures which will place the agricultural interests of America on a basis of economic equality with other industry to insure its prosperity and success.

MINING

Party Favors Plan to Give Miners, Consumers and Producers a Square Deal.

The money value of the mineral products of the country is second only to agriculture. We lead the world in the production of coal, iron, copper and silver. The nation suffers as a whole from any disturbance in the obtaining of any one of these minerals, and particularly when the coal supply is affected. The mining industry always has been self-sustaining, but we believe that the government should make every effort to aid the industry by protection, by removing any restrictions which may be hampering its development, and by increased technical and economic investigations, which are necessary for its welfare and normal development. The party is anxious, hopeful, and willing to assist in any feasible plan for the stabilization of the coal mining industry, which will work with justice to the miners, consumers and producers.

HIGHWAYS

Good Roads Gauge Development of Rural Communities in United States.

Under the federal aid road act, adopted by the Republican congress in 1921, the construction of roads has been accelerated each year, road construction has made greater advancement than for many decades previous. Improved highway conditions is a source of our rural developments and our commercial activity. We pledge our support to continued appropriations for this work commensurate with our needs and resources.

We favor the construction of roads and trails in our national forests necessary for their protection and utilization. In appropriations therefor the taxes which these lands would pay if taxable should be considered as a controlling factor.

LABOR

Republican Rule Assures Workers Highest Standard of Living; Opposes Injunctions.

The labor record of the Republican party stands unchallenged. For 53 of the 75 years of our national existence, Republican administrations have prevailed. Today American labor enjoys the highest wage and the highest standard of living in the world. Through the soundness and soundness of Republican rule, the American workman is paid a "real wage" which allows comfort for himself and his dependents, and an opportunity and leisure for advancement. It is not surprising that the foreign workman, whose greatest ambition still is to achieve a "living wage," should look with longing towards America as the goal of his desires.

The ability to pay our wages with the wisdom of the protective tariff, which the Republican party places upon the national statute book, the tariff which has cheapened made goods from the American market and provides continuity of employment for our workmen and fair prices for the manufacturers, the restriction of immigration which not only prevents over crowding of our labor market but allows to our newer immigrants greater opportunity to obtain a living in their upward struggle.

We believe that injunctions in labor disputes have in some instances been abused and have given rise to a serious question for legislation.

RAILROADS

Good Service and Low Rates Will Be Maintained While Facing Obstacles.

Prompt and effective railroad service at the lowest rates, which we provide for its maintenance and a low reasonable return to the investors, so they may be encouraged to advance new capital for acquisition, developments, long has been recognized by the Republican party as a necessity of national existence.

We believe the present laws which govern our railroads are soundly based on correct principles, the spirit of which always was preserved, because, however, changes in the public demands, the conditions and of the character of the competition, which even the great railroads now are being called upon to meet, we feel that in the light of this new experience possible modifications or amendments, the need of which is proved, should be considered. The Republican party initiates an act in operation the interstate commerce commission. This body has developed a system of railroad control and regulation which has given to the transportation public opportunity as only to make suggestions for the improvement of railroad service, but to protest discriminatory rates or rates which are in violation of the law. We commend the work which it is accomplishing in its mandate of law in considering matters and seeking to distribute equitably the burden of transportation between commodities based on the ability to bear the same.

PRY PLEDGES ENFORCEMENT OF PROHIBITION LAW

Yace Owned Merchant Marine Advocated.

The enactment of the White House is in line with a policy which the party has advocated.

Under this measure, substantial aid and encouragement are offered for the building in American yards of new and old ships which will carry the American flag.

The Republican party does not believe in government ownership or operation of the present government vessels.

It is the policy of the party to give owners when appropriate arrangements can be made. Funding such ships, and because private owners are not ready as yet to operate on one of the essential trade routes, the affected allows the maintenance of these necessary lines under government control till such transfer can be made.

The Mississippi valley flood in which several thousand of our fellow citizens were placed in peril of life and limb, and destroyed hundreds of millions dollars' worth of property, was met with energetic action by the Republican administration.

Due to this disaster, the President mobilized every public and private resource, and under the direction of Secretary of the department of commerce, Dwight Davis, the secretary of war.

For their joint efforts, a great deal of life was prevented and every possible was done to rehabilitate people in their homes and to ease suffering and distress.

Quickly passed legislation, the construction of flood control works, which it is believed will prevent the recurrence of such disaster.

Second, the radio communication system, regional, continental and transoceanic—in the best interest of American business man, the American farmer, and the American public generally.

Development of Rivers Vital Factor in Relief of Agriculture in Midwest.

Chief transportation for bulk goods from the midwest agricultural section to the sea is recognized by the Republican party as a vital factor for the relief of agriculture. To that end, it favors the continued development of inland and intracoastal waterways as an essential part of our transportation system.

The Republican administration during the last four years initiated the program for development of the Mississippi system of inland transportation, and it proposes to carry on this development of transportation to its completion. Great improvements have been made during the administration in our harbors, and the party pledges itself to continue these activities for the modernization of our navigation equipment.

Federal Adequate Relief for Disabled Heroes Aim of Administration.

Our country is honored whenever it shows relief on those who have faithfully served its flag. The Republican party, appreciative of this role, has legislation and honor, has made the elements of the nation's congress, the beneficiaries for the benefit of all our veterans now aggregate 750 million dollars annually, increased hospital facilities have been provided, medical care in compensation have more than doubled, and in the matter of education, pensions, and insurance, generous provision has been made with the relief of veterans and their dependents has been a difficult task, but every effort has been made to carry service to the veteran and his family, not only a better and more sympathetic consideration of the many problems of the veteran, but also a complete account of all contributions, the names of the contributors, the amount expended, and for what purpose, and will at all times hold its records and books touching such matters open for inspection.

The party further pledges that it will not create, or permit to be created, any deficit which shall exist at the close of the campaign.

Reclamation Coolidge Pushed Program for More Production on Arid Lands of West.

own field, has been a fundamental idea in all regulatory enactments. While recognizing that at times federal regulations might be more effective than states in controlling interstate utilities, the party favors and has established state regulation, believing that such responsibility in the end will create a force of state public opinion which will be more effective in preventing discrimination and injustices.

CONSERVATION

Republican Policy is to Prevent Monopolies in Control and Utilization.

We believe in the practical application of the conservation principle by the wise development of our national resources. The measure of development is our national requirement and avoidance of waste so that future generations may share in this natural wealth. The Republican policy is to prevent monopolies in the control and utilization of natural resources under the general leasing law, enacted by a Republican congress, the ownership of the mineral estate remains in the state, but development occurs through private capital and energy. Important for the operation of this law is the classification and appraisal of public lands according to their mineral content and value. More than five hundred million acres of public land have been thus classified.

To prevent wasteful exploitation of our oil products President Coolidge appointed an oil conservation board, which now is conducting an inquiry into all phases of petroleum production, in the effort to devise a national policy for the conservation and proper utilization of our oil resources.

The Republican party has been foremost in assuring the development of water power in accordance with public interest. A policy of permanent public retention of the power sites on public land and power privileges in domestic and international navigable streams and one-third of the potential water power in the United States on public domain has been assured by the federal water powers act, passed by a Republican congress.

LAKE ENFORCEMENT

Doctrines of Washington and Lincoln Affirmed; Will Enforce Dry Laws.

We reaffirm the American constitutional doctrine as announced by George Washington in his "Farwell Address," to wit:

"The constitution which at any time exists until changed by the explicit and authentic act of the whole people is sacredly obligatory upon all."

We also reaffirm the attitude of the American people toward the federal constitution as declared by Abraham Lincoln:

"We are by both duty and inclination bound to stick by that constitution in all its letter and spirit from beginning to end. If the improper enforcement of the constitution. Our safety, our liberty, depends upon preserving the constitution of the United States, as our forefathers made it inviolate."

The people through the method provided by the constitution have written the eighteenth amendment into the constitution. The Republican party pledges itself and its nominees to the observance and vigorous enforcement of this provision of the constitution.

The government today is made up of thousands of conscientious, earnest, self-sacrificing men and women. The single thought is service to the nation.

We pledge ourselves to maintain and, if possible, to improve the quality of this great company of federal employees.

CAMPAIGN COSTS

G. O. P. Promises There Will Be No Deficit at Close of its Campaign.

Economy, honesty, and decency in the conduct of political campaigns are a necessity if representative government is to be preserved to the people and political parties are to hold the respect of the citizens at large.

The campaign of 1924 complied with all these requirements. It was a campaign the expenses of which were carefully budgeted in advance, and which, at the close, presented a surplus and not a deficit.

There will not be any relaxing of resolute endeavor to keep our elections clean, honest, and free from taint of any kind. If the improper use of money in governmental and political affairs is a great national evil. One of the most effective remedies for this abuse is publicity in all matters touching campaign contributions and expenditures. The Republican party, beginning not later than Aug. 1, 1928, and every thirty days thereafter, the last publication being not later than five days before the election, will file with the committees of the house and senate a complete account of all contributions, the names of the contributors, the amount expended, and for what purpose, and will at all times hold its records and books touching such matters open for inspection.

FARM PLANKS WHICH CAUSED BATTLE ON CONVENTION FLOOR

Kansas City, Mo., June 14.—(Special.)—Following are the planks with reference to agriculture, over which a fight was made on the floor of the Republican convention here today:

THE MAJORITY PLANK.
We promise every assistance in the reorganization of the marketing system on sounder and more economical lines and, where diversification is needed, government financial assistance during the period of transition.

The Republican party pledges itself to the enactment of legislation creating a federal farm board clothed with the necessary powers to promote the establishment of farm marketing system of farm products and controlled stabilization of prices, or associations to prevent and control surpluses through orderly distribution.

We favor adequate tariff protection to such of our agricultural products as are affected by foreign competition. We favor, without putting the government into business, the establishment of a federal system of organization for cooperative and orderly marketing of farm products.

The vigorous efforts of this administration towards broadening our exports market will be continued.

The Republican party pledges itself to the development and enactment of measures which will place the agricultural interests of America on a basis of economic equality with other industry to insure its prosperity and success.

President Roosevelt, carried forward by succeeding Republican presidents, and put upon a still higher plane of efficiency and production by President Coolidge. It has increased the wealth of the nation and made the west more prosperous.

An intensive study of the methods and practices of reclamation has been going on for the last four years under the direction of the department of the interior in an endeavor to create broader human opportunities and their financial and economic success. The money value of the crops raised on reclamation projects is showing a steady and gratifying increase as the number of farms and people who have settled on the lands.

The continuation of a surplus of agricultural products in the selling markets has influenced the department to a revaluation of plans and projects and it has adopted a ten-year program for the completion of older projects and will hold other suggestions in abeyance until the surveys now under way as to the entire scope of the work are completed.

AVIATION

Private Initiative Lauded; 25,000 Miles of All Mail Lines Operating Now.

Without governmental grants or subsidies and entirely by private initiative, the nation has made extraordinary advances in the field of commercial aviation. More than 20,000 miles of air mail service privately operated now are being flown daily, and the broadening of this service is an almost weekly event. Because of our close relations with our sister republics on the south and our neighbor on the north, it is fitting our first efforts should be to establish an air connection with Latin America and Canada.

The achievements of the aviation branches of the army and navy are all to the advantage of commercial aviation, and in the Mississippi flood disaster the work performed by civil and military aviators was of incalculable value.

The development of a system of aircraft registration, inspection and control is a credit to the Republican administration, which quick to appreciate the importance of this new transportation development, created machinery for its safeguarding.

IMMIGRATION

Party Believes in Restriction as Benefit to Native and Foreign Born Laborers.

The Republican party believes that in the interest of both native and foreign born wage earners, it is necessary to restrict immigration. Unrestricted immigration would result in widespread unemployment and in the breakdown of the American standard of living. However, the law works undue hardship by depriving the immigrant of the comfort and society of those bound by close family ties, such modification should be adopted as will afford relief.

We commend congress for correcting defects for humanitarian reasons and for providing an effective system of examining prospective immigrants in their home countries.

NATURALIZATION
Only Foreign Born Who Will Remain Loyal Should Be Naturalized.

The priceless heritage of American citizenship is our greatest gift to our friends of foreign birth. Only those who will be loyal to our institutions, who are here in conformity with our laws, and who are in sympathy with our national traditions, ideals, and principles, should be naturalized.

contribution to the success of the 1924 campaign is well recognized. The Republican party, which from the first has sought to bring this development about, accepts wholeheartedly equality on the part of women, and in the public service it can present a record of appointments of women in the legal, diplomatic, judicial, treasury and other government departments. We earnestly urge on the women that they participate even more generally than now in party management and activity.

NATIONAL DEFENSE

Drafting of All Material Resources is Advocated in Times of War.

We believe that in time of war the nation should draft for its defense not only its citizens, but also every resource which may contribute to the development about, accepts wholeheartedly equality on the part of women, and in the public service it can present a record of appointments of women in the legal, diplomatic, judicial, treasury and other government departments. We earnestly urge on the women that they participate even more generally than now in party management and activity.

INDIAN CITIZENS

Creation of Commission to Investigate Administration of Affairs Urged.

National citizenship was conferred upon all the born Indians in the United States by the general Indian enfranchisement act of 1924. We favor the creation of a commission to be appointed by the President, including one or more Indian citizens, to investigate and report to congress upon the existing system of the administration of Indian affairs and to report any inconsistencies that may be found to exist between that system and the rights of the Indian citizens of the United States. We also favor the repeal of any law and the termination of any administrative practice which may be inconsistent with Indian citizenship, to the end that the federal guardianship existing over the persons and properties of Indian tribal communities may not work a prejudice to the personal and property rights of Indian citizens of the United States. The treaty and property rights of the Indians of the United States must be guaranteed to them.

THE NEGRO

Early Enactment of Federal Anti-Lynching Law is Recommended.

We renew our recommendation that the congress enact at the earliest possible date a federal anti-lynching law so that the full influence of the federal government may be wielded to exterminate this heinous crime.

HOME RULE

Federal Activities in States of Union Will Not Have Party's Support.

We believe in the essential unity of the American people. Sectionalism in any form is destructive of national life. The federal government should zealously protect the national and international rights of its citizens. It should be equally zealous to respect and maintain the rights of the states and to uphold the vigor and balance of our dual system of government. The Republican party always has given its energies to supporting the government in this direction when any question has arisen.

There are certain other well defined federal obligations such as interstate commerce, the development of rivers and harbors and the guarding and conservation of national resources. The effort, which, however, is being continually made to have the federal government move into the field of state activities, never has had and never will have the support of the Republican party.

In the majority of the cases state today to revitalize fundamental principles there is a real need of restoring the individual and local sense of responsibility and self-reliance; there is a real need for the people once more to grasp the fundamental fact that under our system of government they are expected to solve many problems themselves through their municipal and state governments, and to combat the tendency that is all too common to turn to the federal government as the easiest and least burdensome method of lightening their own responsibilities.

WOMEN, PUBLIC AID

Filling Places in U. S. Service Admirably Party Favors Equality.

Four years ago at the Republican national convention in Cleveland women members of the national committee were welcomed into full association and responsibility in party management. During the four years which have passed, they have carried with them men associates an equal share of all responsibilities and their

Prohibition's 8-Year Record of Blood and Crime Ignored in G.O.P. Platform

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.]
Washington, D. C., June 14.—(Special.)—Prohibition's eight year record of blood, crime and corruption was completely ignored by the Republican platform makers who wrote the "stricter Volstead enforcement" plank adopted today.

Hundreds of citizens have been shot and killed, and untold thousands have been maimed for life by "hair trigger" dry law enforcers. The killers, with scores of their kind in the prohibition, coast guard, or customs services, accused of a wide variety of crimes including robbery, perjury, bribery and even rape in the name of Volsteadism, have escaped punishment when federal courts intervened to halt state court prosecutions. And most of the killers are still on the federal pay roll.

Dry Killers Toll 174.
Admittedly incomplete records of the prohibition bureau, based solely on newspaper accounts of the outrages or voluntary reports from district administrators, show that the "shoot to kill" enforcement policy, which has prevailed in the bureau, has cost the lives of at least 136 citizens.

To this total may be added 8 killings by coast guardsmen assigned to prohibition enforcement, and the 40 lives lost when the submarine S-4 was rammed and sunk by the state guard cruiser Paulding while the latter was chasing a suspected rum running vessel.

U. S. Protects Slayers.
In 41 cases the federal courts have stepped in to protect killing agents or coast guardsmen, and the result has been that throughout the eight year period, so far as available records disclose, only four convictions for murder or manslaughter have been secured. One hair trigger agent has been convicted of murder in a state court since prohibition became effective.

Because the records are carefully guarded, no one outside the prohibition bureau knows how many agents have been accused of perjury, bribery, robbery, and rape, and only in exceptional cases do any such instances become known, as the rest of the system under which such agents are secretly dropped from the service without charges being filed against them.

Dry Graft Galore.
Some indication of the situation which has obtained since the enforcement service was first created was given by Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Lowman when he admitted soon after taking his post a year ago that he had found the service "honeycombed with graft and corruption" and manned by a "horde of human wolves." Recently, he disclosed that two coast guard dry enforcers upon Jacob C. Hansen, prominent Niagara Falls, N. Y., citizen, who was blinded for life, Representative Mead (Dem., N. Y.) inserted in the congressional record a list of 124 killings attributed to "hair trigger" dry agents and coast guardsmen during the last eight years.

40 POLICE TRAP BANDITS; THREE SHOT IN BATTLE

Lieut. Barry Is Wounded Leading His Men.

given. In front as the attackers closed in on the spot deemed most likely to shelter the outlaws was Lieut. Barry. He had earned his right to be there. Twice in five years he had won promotions and extra compensation through his readiness to shoot it out with criminals.

Barry Sights the Outlaws.

He was only twenty-five or thirty feet from the pair when he glimpsed them. Holding his shotgun at the ready, he called out:

"Surrender or you die, men. Come out."

The reply was a shot from the shotgun in the hands of the desperate Cleaver. Barry fell. The outlaws turned their fire on the men behind him. The police fell prone and began to spray their bullets on the enemy.

Barry, lying in what was as truly a No Man's land as if he had been in the war zone of France, paid no heed to his wounds. Instead he continued his fire on the outlaws and shouted directions to his men.

Directs Fire of His Men.

"Raise your sights," he called. "You're shooting low. Some of you a little more to the right and left. Let 'em have some tear bombs."

From five of the deadly machine guns bullets were spitting now. One was in the hands of Deputy O'Connor. Another was handled by Chief Grady. The others were used by Sgt. Frank Labowski, Daniel Healy, and James O'Sullivan, ex-service men. The leaden pellets ripped over the edge of the cuppy depression of the bandits, a natural firing trench.

The tear bombs were hurled, but this part of the attack failed. A sudden change of wind carried the gas attack back on the assaulting forces. Barry was endangered by the fumes. Sgt. Roy Crane and Policeman James Capila, seeing this, went to his rescue. They crawled along the banks of the little creek to him.

Dragged From Battle Line.

But Barry declined to go with them. He fired another half dozen rounds at the entrenched criminals. Then, as he was half dragged from the battle line the police fire was redoubled.

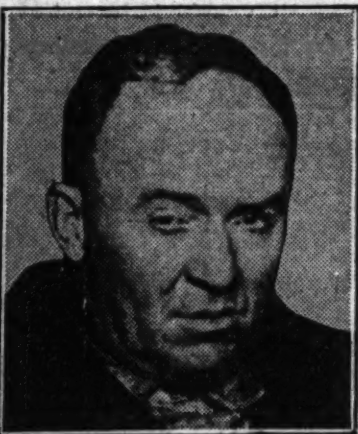

The circling assault details closed in. There was a lull in the firing. Chief Grady, from his post well in front, called to the fugitives. Cleaver's head appeared and he cried that they were through. He was commanded to raise his hands and crawl out. He did so. Farina followed. The battle was over. At least 2,000 rounds had been fired, and the 200 or more spectators who had witnessed the fight from automobiles on North avenue

Forty Police Wound and Recapture Outlaws

Scene of battle between police and outlaws. The picture shows where Cleaver and Farina were hidden, where Lieut. Andrew Barry was wounded, and how he and his squad lay in field which was swept by machine gun fire of their comrades. The broken lines indicate the direction of the police fire upon the outlaws.

marveled that Cleaver and Farina were alive. Their excellent shelter was responsible. Only a few of the bullets had crashed into it, so well was it protected by high banks. In it the men had a crude bed, a jug of water, a supply of food, the guns, and a tarpaulin.

Believe Farina May Die.

Lieut. Barry was taken to the West Lake hospital in Melrose Park. Physicians said his wounds were not serious. Cleaver and Farina were taken to the Bridgeview hospital. It was believed a wound below the heart would cause the death of Farina, who was convicted of robbing the Villa Park State bank. Cleaver, despite his chest wounds, probably will recover, it was said.

A search was started for the other three who escaped from the Wheaton jail with the captured pair. They are Thomas P. McGoorty, under indictment for shooting a policeman in Lombard; Charles W. Clark, alleged burglar, and Oscar Olson, indicted for robbery with a gun. It was predicted that they, too, will shoot it out when they are found.

Cleaver refused to tell where they might be. He asserted he had not seen them since Sunday. There was a report that they had been seen in an automobile near Melrose Park, but they were not found.

Boy Reveals Hiding Place.

The information which led to the battle came from a 17 year old boy and was relayed by Chief Passarella of Melrose Park to Deputy O'Connor. The youth had seen the outlaws creeping to and from their haunt. It is believed that Farina's brother furnished them with food.

The Wheaton jail break was one of the most sensational in years. Jailer William Edgerton was slugged by one of the conspirators as he was opening the bullpen door preparatory to having breakfast served to the prisoners. The five men then leaped out, beat and kicked him and tossed him into the bullpen, which they locked. Then they went to the sheriff's office for the guns.

Fired On by Sheriff.

They next ran to the deputy's car. As they drove away Sheriff Hattendorf, awakened by the commotion, ran out and fired at them. Not deigning to reply to this, the men drove on. The automobile was found late the same evening at First and North avenues, two miles east of the scene of yesterday's battle.

Cleaver, in whose home more than $17,000 of the Evergreen Park loot was recovered, is regarded as an important government witness against Attorney Charles S. Wharton, who is accused of lending his home to the gang for the division of the money. The other men under arrest for the robbery have pleaded guilty. They are William Donovan, Frank Meola, and Lawrence O'Brien. One, Virgil Litzinger, is under indictment but has never been arrested. Two others have since been shot and killed.

I. C. C. Hears Plea for Northwest Bus Route

Testimony in support of a proposed bus line route to extend along the Northwest highway from St. Adalbert cemetery southeast to Milwaukee avenue and thence south on Laramie avenue to Washington boulevard, was taken by the Illinois commerce commission yesterday. The Chicago Motor Coach company petitioned for authority to establish the route. This route is not opposed by the commission by the Chicago surface lines, though the transit company is fighting establishment of eight other routes by the bus company.

YOUTH DIES OF LOCKJAW

Fred Hirsch, 25 years old, 2330 Dayton street, died of lockjaw yesterday in the Illinois Masonic hospital. The disease developed after he had stepped on a nail May 25.

START ANTI-TRUST SUIT AGAINST MOVIE LEADERS

Suit for an anti-trust law injunction charging a monopoly in the motion picture and vaudeville industry was brought yesterday by the Marks Bros. Theaters, Inc., against Paramount-Famous-Lasky corporation and twenty-six other defendants and filed in the United States District court. The suit alleges a restraint of trade by means of refusal to contract, violence, and unlawful combinations to gain control of the moving picture industry by the defendants.

Among the other defendants are Public Theaters corporation, Balaban & Katz, United Artists Corporation of Illinois, Lubliner & Trina, and the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer Distributing corporation, and the Orpheum circuit.

Election Day Gun Toting Charge Dropped in Court

Harry Hockstein testified yesterday that he carried two pistols in an automobile on primary day, June 4, as part of his equipment to inspect fish markets, in line with his duties as a deputy game warden. Judge George A. Curran in the South Clark street court listened to this defense to the charge of carrying concealed weapons and then discharged him. Hockstein was arrested after the police had responded to a riot call on election day at a polling place at 467 West O'Brien street. "You can't arrest me, I'm an Eller precinct captain," Hockstein told the police at the time.

FALL AT LUMBER YARD FATAL.
Peter Manson, 60 years old, 75 East 101st street, died at the Roseland community hospital yesterday of a skull fracture suffered in a fall at the Riverdale Lumber company plant on Monday.

Robert Johns and Serena Bergandi, who became famous overnight by winning the Marathon Dance Contest—the greatest test of human endurance ever devised—selected the cool, green shores of beautiful Lake Geneva, Wisconsin, as the ideal spot to rest up. Before fulfilling their vaudeville engagements the couple were ordered by their doctors to take complete rest, and Lake Geneva was chosen as the best place to recuperate after this record-breaking exhibition of stamina and grit.

You Can Have a Vacation Every Week End

These two are by no means the first who have found health and happiness in the pure, invigorating atmosphere peculiar to Lake Geneva—only a two-hour drive from Chicago.

So popular has this famous lake become that homesites there are scarce and growing more valuable every year.

We have acquired a wonderful piece of property there and recently divided it into large shore-rights, summer homesites which offer A LAST opportunity on this nine-mile lake, noted as a paradise for fishing, swimming, boating and a host of other sports.

STEWART FREED; INDICTMENT FOR PERJURY BREWING

Charge May Be Based on Senate Testimony.

Washington, D. C., June 14.—(Special.)—Robert W. Stewart, chairman of the Senate Committee on Privileges and Elections, today by a jury's verdict, was acquitted of perjury, based on his testimony before the Teapot Dome oil scandal committee, as soon as the verdict of acquittal was announced.

An indictment may be returned by the grand jury at the end of next week, if the evidence is sufficient.

Stewart was indicted for contempt of court, after a statute fixing a maximum penalty of one year in jail and a $1,000 fine, when he declined to testify before the Senate committee.

the courts with senatorial orders to convict. It is time the witness, the Nye and the Norris in the senate should learn that procedure of that kind cannot prevail in the capital city.

The perjury indictment against Stewart, when and if it is returned, will be based on his assertion to the Teapot Dome committee last February that "I personally did not receive any of these bonds or make a dollar out of them" and his subsequent admission, after he had been indicted for contempt, that he had received $750,000 of the Continental company's profits in the form of Liberty bonds.

Stewart Answers Norris. When the observation of Senator Norris (Rep., Neb.) to the effect that Stewart's acquittal is "another demonstration of the fact that it is virtually impossible to convict a millionaire" was drawn to his attention to-night, Stewart declared "Norris would be humorous if he were not pathetic."

"His aspersions, several times repeated, upon honest men and women of this city," Stewart said, "who have served on juries are as contemptible as they are unjustified, and as indecent as they are execrable."

"It is high time senators who devote their time to prosecutions instead of to the legislative business for which he people pay them should realize that while abusing political power they may attempt to make marionettes of district attorneys and puppets of courts, that power cannot pass the American jury box."

FIRST TRUE BILLS IN ELECTION QUIZ EXPECTED TODAY

Intimidation of Grand Jury Witnesses Revealed.

The first batch of indictments, possibly 10 or 12, from the special grand jury investigating the fraud and violence of the last primary and the connection between crime and politics, is expected to be presented to Chief Justice William V. Brothers today.

The charge that the inquiry has been impeded by the intimidation and terrorist tactics of election crooks was made yesterday afternoon by Special Assistant Attorney General David D. Stanbury. Violence, bribery and threats of death have been the methods used by those afraid to allow witnesses to tell honest stories to the special investigators, he said.

"Wholesale intimidation of the witnesses has been found by us since we started to delve into the Granady murder case," said the prosecutor.

Hints Use of Defense Fund.

The prosecutor refused to go into details of the intimidation of witnesses except to suggest that some of them may have been made the beneficiaries of part of the huge fund being raised from owners of gambling and vice dens, from speakeasy proprietors and racketeers in the "bloody 30th" ward, headed by Morris Eller, city collector and Thompson-Crowe candidate for military district trustee, and in the 35th and 37th wards.

The investigators for Special Prosecutor Frank J. Loesch, who also is president of the Chicago crime commission, discovered that the resort owners are being taxed according to the amounts of the profits made by the individual joints.

Indictments at this time will be aimed only at the strong arm men, who did the actual kidnapping of the election workers opposing the "American First" ticket.

Probe Granady Murder.

The investigators are now quizzing witnesses on the murder of Octavius R. Granady, colored attorney and opponent of Eller for the commission of the 30th ward. The evidence so gathered will be presented to the special jury next week.

The general conspiracy feature of the investigation—that having to do with the so-called higher-ups centralizing the place of detention of kidnapped workers in the 30th ward, within a block of the home of Judge Emanuel Eller—will be the concluding phase of the inquiry, it was announced.

Final plans for completing the $150,000 fund to finance the investigation because of the refusal of obstructionists on the county board to vote the necessary funds, will be announced today by Carl R. Latham, retiring president of the Chicago Bar association.

SOLDIERS TURNING FT. SHERIDAN INTO PLACE OF BEAUTY

A campaign to transform the drab appearance of the military reservation at Fort Sheridan into one of beauty, comparable with the North Shore suburbs in its vicinity, has been undertaken by the soldiers assigned to the post. All of the work is being done by the men during what would be their leisure time.

Stains and discolorations on the stone barracks and officers' quarters are to be covered with ivy or other climbing vines. The headquarters group of wooden buildings and the hospital are to be painted in white with green trimmings. Unsightly features of the landscape will be obliterated by screens of shrubbery and unnecessary paths and wagon tracks will be removed.

In cooperation with the civilian highway commissioners in the vicinity the roads are to be resurfaced and improved.

POLLS TERRORIST MADE HER MARRY HIM, SAYS WIFE

School Teacher, in Suit, Implicates Husband.

Mrs. Margaret M. Thorson, a school teacher, who was a witness in the Granady murder inquest, yesterday charged that she had been forced into marriage by Joseph Breclav, whom she had implicated in the Twentieth ward lawlessness on the day of the April primaries.

In a bill to annul the marriage, the woman alleges that Breclav drugged her and coerced her into a wedding with him "so that as his wife I would be barred by law from testifying against him in any criminal proceedings that might be brought about by reason of said murder."

Tells of Hitting Negro.

At the inquest into the slaying of Octavius Granady, Negro lawyer who opposed Morris Eller as Republican committeeman of the Twentieth ward, the school teacher testified that Breclav had brandished a revolver on the primary day and had explained that an abrasion on his arm was due to "hitting a Negro." Breclav was a janitor at the Foster school, 730 O'Brien street, where Mrs. Thorson, a divorcee, was an instructor.

She also testified that she saw Breclav on primary day in an automobile similar to the car used by the assassin.

"After the inquest," she said last night at her apartment, where she is living temporarily under an assumed name to hide from Breclav and his friends, "the janitor proposed marriage to me. I refused. Then he said he was going to make me marry him so I couldn't testify against him again."

Tells of Trip to His Home.

"On May 23, a woman, one of his relatives, came to me and said Joe was drunk. She asked me to go home with her and help quiet him. I went with her. He was violently intoxicated. I asked him for a glass of water, and after drinking what he brought me my mind was dazed and I can't recall definitely what happened.

"I remember Joe was threatening my life. I have a dim recollection of his making me get into a taxicab with him and driving downtown. We went up into some office building, it wasn't the county building, and someone, I can't recall what he looked like, read a wedding ceremony."

"Then we took a taxicab to the Breclav home at 634 West 18th street. He went to the schoolhouse to do some of his work and I took this opportunity to run home. I was sick in bed all of the next day."

Accuses Police and Bailiff.

The annulment bill, prepared by Attorney Stuart B. Krohn, sets up that Breclav and a friend, identified by her as a court bailiff, made several visits to her home and threatened her life and that of her 5 year old daughter if she didn't return to him. She appealed for protection to a neighboring police station, according to the bill, and the officer in command told her she would be arrested on a disorderly conduct charge if she didn't go back to her husband.

Attorney Krohn, after filing the bill, went before Superior Judge John J. Sullivan and obtained an injunction to restrain the defendant from molesting or annoying the teacher pending the disposition of her suit.

SPECIAL SESSION ASKED TO ADJUST 1927 VALUATIONS

William H. Malone, chairman of the state tax commission, yesterday urged Gov. Small to call a special session of legislature to correct inequities of the 1927 quadrennial assessment, particularly in Cook county. In a letter to the governor, Mr. Malone pointed out that Attorney General Oscar Carstrom held that the tax commission had no power to order the Cook county board of assessors to make a new quadrennial revaluation of real estate. Mr. Malone issued such an order several weeks ago but the assessors refused to obey on advice of their attorneys.

Believe Crew Escaped Ship Only to Die of Exposure

MONTREAL, June 14.—Reports received at the offices of the Canada steamship line today suggested the possibility that some of the crew of the freighter Kamloops, which was lost with all hands off Isle Royale in Lake Superior last winter, may have succeeded in reaching shore only to die of exposure. The ninth body was taken from the Isle Royale to Port Arthur today.

Convention.

The station and an engraved gold license was given to the President. A year ago today the President's train pulled through here without a halt while a silk hatted reception committee waited in vain. The President expressed regret for this later, but tonight the train stopped while the President received the Wisconsin delegation.

The President had received no word of developments at the national convention and was not interested enough to listen to the speeches there on the platform or at the radio in his private car. The convention news that reached the train drifted on board at the short stop at Chicago and other places.

Gets Formal Greeting.

John Wagner, chairman of the Wisconsin state conservation commission, accompanied Gov. Zimmerman, board of the President's car during the brief stop at Madison and presented to the President a formal greeting to the President from the governor bearing the gold seal of the Badger state.

Dear Mr. President: Three million Wisconsin people extend to you a cordial welcome to Wisconsin. For ten weeks and your family will be our guests at every fireside you will be a cordial visitor.

While we are proud of our position as an agricultural state, proud of our industrial state, proud of our recreational advantages have extended to you, and because of these Wisconsin becomes for the time being the nation's capital.

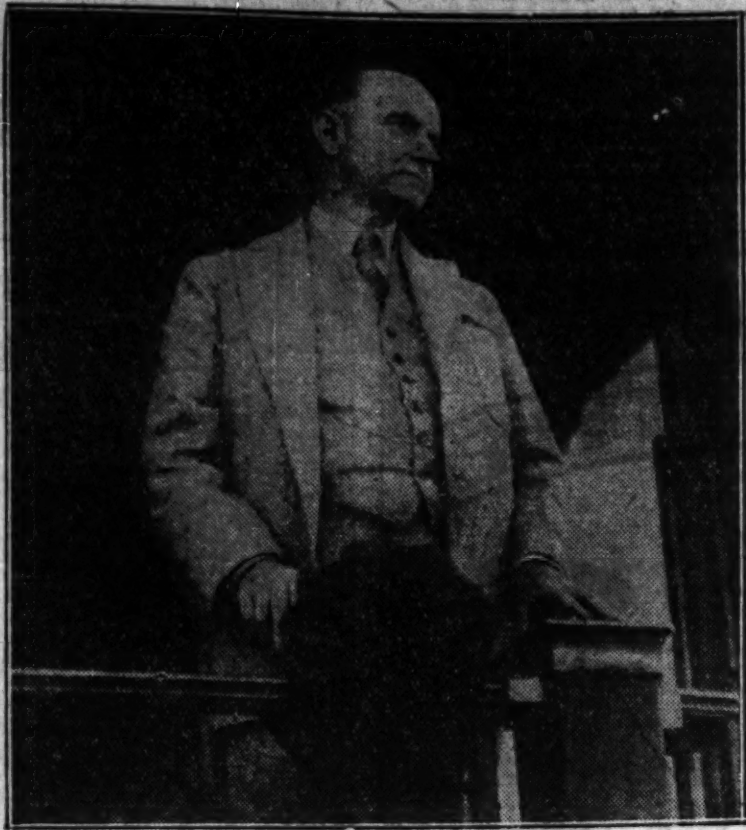

The people of our state and the visitors from forty-seven other states who will be within our borders will, you may be assured, extend every courtesy, every consideration, and add to your comfort in all ways. Cordially,
"FRED R. ZIMMERMAN."

Crowds at Stations.
At Janesville and other towns the platforms were lined with people waiting to catch a glimpse of the President.

Gov. Coolidge was reported steadily improving tonight, although she remains in bed most of the time.

President Coolidge is expected to take a hand in the campaign, as he is talking with him the largest office since that ever has left the White

MAYOR'S ATTACK ON "L" ADVANCE CALLED FLIMSY

City Lawyers Rebuked by State Board Member.

BY OSCAR HEWITT.

Mayor Thompson's opposition to the proposed 20 per cent increase in "L" fares consisted yesterday of the testimony of one witness, two exhibits and less than an hour's time. It drew a public rebuke from William J. Smith, members of the Illinois commerce commission.

"I'm disappointed in the scope and character of the evidence presented by the city," Commissioner Smith told Assistant Corporation Counsel John G. Drennan and Edward C. Higgins. "It is not at all exhaustive."

Asks If It Appears Real.

"Do you believe that the evidence presented is real and substantial?" Mr. Smith asked Mr. Drennan. "I certainly do," Mr. Drennan replied.

"I cannot see it," Smith retorted. "You do not see the case properly," Mr. Drennan countered.

"I have heard all the evidence," snapped Mr. Smith.

After the next hearing had been set for June 26 and yesterday's session had adjourned, Commissioner Smith commented:

"After presenting only one witness, whose testimony was not impressive, and the city's lawyers said that they had completed their opposition to the proposed fare increase," Smith said, "I was amazed. The city has done so much talking about what it was going to do, I was surprised it did not present a large amount of convincing evidence."

Says City Does Little.

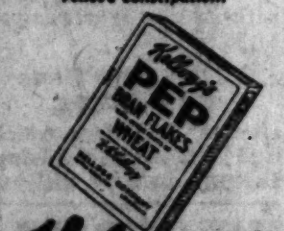

"I have assumed that the city administration was attempting to prevent an increase in fares, but it has not gone very far in helping the commission."

Harry G. Westphal, a city accountant, was the only witness. Commenting later, Mr. Smith said: "Mr. Westphal's testimony did not amount to very much. The two exhibits presented were of very limited value. These exhibits and Westphal's testimony took the company's figures and made a few deductions from them. I asked Mr. Westphal, while he was on the witness stand, if he had taken into account in his estimate of expense the increase in wages of the men. He said 'no,' although that wage increase was made effective several months ago."

GLORIA SWANSON NOT IN COURT FOR $25,000 FACE SLAPPING SUIT

New York, June 14.—[Special.]—Movie fans who crowded the trial room of Supreme Court Justice Goldsmith today in the hope of seeing and hearing Gloria Swanson, film star, at the witness stand, were disappointed.

Miss Swanson, who is being sued for $25,000 damages by Samuel A. Cohen, process server, who alleges she slapped his face last September, when he tried to hand her a subpoena in front of her hotel, did not appear.

Just before the noon recess her attorney asked permission to introduce a transcript of her testimony when she was examined before trial, indicating she would not be called at all. Justice Goldsmith reserved decision.

ago. He said he had made up his exhibit two or three weeks ago.

"I should think that the city would have gone into the requested fare increase much more comprehensively if it had wanted to help the commission in the matter. The case, however, must be decided on the evidence presented."

Commissioner Studies Lines.

The commerce commission's staff of engineers and accountants has been making a study of the "L" fare increase for three months, and has not yet completed the inquiry. Before June 26, when the hearing officially will be resumed, the commission will decide whether to present the evidence that staff has collected.

At present, so far as the formal record in the case goes, there appears to be no evidence against the plea for a fare increase, except that presented by the city accountant and two exhibits, which Commissioner Smith does not look on as "real and substantial." The Chicago Rapid Transit company asks abolition of tickets sold three for 25 cents and of the "weekly passes," and wants a straight 10 cent fare.

The city's lawyers, John G. Drennan and Edward C. Higgins, some time ago asked the commission to dismise the company's plea, and leave the rates as at present. They then argued that the law holds a fare increase must be granted on present valuation, asserting the company has failed to introduce such figures in evidence. At that time the commission declined to comply with the city's request.

Relying on this same legal argument, the city lawyers again yesterday told the commission they could not see how the commission can decide against the city. The company filed its application Feb. 15.

SQUAD CAR RADIO STORM TRAPS 9 PLANES; 5 CRASH; ONLY ONE DEATH

Radio is to be used as an aid to the police in apprehending criminals if a suggestion made yesterday by Deputy Commissioner William E. O'Connor and approved by Commissioner Michael Hughes sets the proper support in the city council. The council will be asked to appropriate funds so that radio receiving sets can be installed in all police squad cars.

Under the present arrangements crime flashes are sent over the police teletype system and are not relayed to the 105 roving squads until they report.

"If we can reach every squad immediately with a radio message as soon as a crime is committed we will take a long step forward in the speedy apprehension of criminals," said Deputy O'Connor.

A biplane crashed a few hundred yards from Le Bourget field and was completely destroyed, although its crew of four miraculously escaped injury. South Chinese Draft Plan to Redeem Country.

(Associated Press, June 14.—The comparison of the new draft plan of the Chinese government here, turned to this morning when a group of Chinese soldiers, trapped in the central railway station, attempted a break in the Japanese military lines. They attacked police and soldiers with rifles, pistols, grenades, and even axes.

The Japanese waterworks were surrounded and repelled to the fire with machine guns, throwing the city into confusion. Many shells dropped inside the Japanese military headquarters were killed.

Matters were further complicated by the troops of Gen. Pang Chen-wu, who were ordered to attack the Japanese from the station with a machine gun. Only one direct hit was made on the station, the rest striking the native city, killing a number of Chinese.

Fear Surprise Attack.
Gen. Fu Tso-yi feels insecure this morning, fearing that untold numbers of Chinese soldiers are hiding in plain clothes and may rise, disarming his troops and police. Reinforcements are expected here tomorrow.

Surviving hands of straggling northern soldiers, clashing with police and Chinese plain clothes patrols, last night set up an almost continuous skirmishing street warfare throughout the night, resulting in numerous casualties among the Chinese.

Japanese and Italian outposts guarded the borders of the native city since most of the trouble occurred, although skirmishers approached the lines frequently, neither force losing time after time came over the boundaries of the Japanese military headquarters and struck frequently.

Government's Program.
(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
SHANGHAI, June 14.—The National government yesterday announced its new national platform pertaining to domestic and foreign policy. The platform consisted of five planks.

The first recommends the systematic control and the estab-

FREED BY JURORS; HE'S REARRESTED FOR HAVING SAME AUTO

Edward Fahey, 29, of 1425 Church street, Evanston, who was acquitted by a jury in Judge Otto Korn's court a month ago, was rearrested yesterday by Lieut. William Cox of the automobile detail division and charged with receiving stolen property. Fahey had in his possession when arrested an automobile alleged to belong to Andrew T. Murphy, 332 Elder lane, Winnetka, the same car which he originally was charged with stealing.

Following his acquittal Fahey obtained possession of the disputed car by a writ of replevin and the posting of a bond. The hearing on this writ will be heard June 24.

At the time of the trial Murphy charged that the state's attorney's office had withheld certain evidence. He expressed disappointment over the fact that Fahey after his acquittal was able to take the car away from him by the replevin writ. The police yesterday found a Packard car in Fahey's garage and are now investigating the ownership.

ishment of a legal administration safeguarding the lives and property of Chinese citizens.

The second recommends the establishment of civil service in order to eliminate corruption and incompetence in officialdom.

The third pertains to the extermination of banditry and lawless soldiery.

Abolish Tax Extortion.

The fourth recommends the abolition of extortionate taxation in order to permit the people to recuperate.

The fifth recommends immediate and drastic reduction and disbandment of surplus soldiery.

The portion of the program pertaining to foreign policy expresses a desire to reconstruct a modern state, which is said to be impossible under the existing conditions imposed by the foreign powers; hence, the program proclaims the time has arrived for treaty revision.

The second clause demands the immediate withdrawal of foreign troops in order to "avoid misunderstanding and mutual suspicion," and says that if the powers persist in sending troops for the purpose of protecting foreigners, China is bound to retaliate by closing the interior of the country to foreign residence.

Building Schemes Lead to Confidence Game Charge

John F. Winkates, 40 years old, 4639 Cullum avenue, was held to the grand jury yesterday by Judge Francis Borrell on a charge of operating a confidence game. Bonds were fixed at $12,500. Winkates was alleged to have collected thousands of dollars on the pretext that he was to build homes for his victims and then failed to build.

JAPAN REVEALS COREAN TRIED TO MURDER PRINCE

Revolutionary Plot Behind Attempt.

BY RODERICK MATHESON.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
Copyright, 1928, By The Chicago Tribune.
TOKIO, June 14.—Censorship imposed on news regarding the attempted assassination of Prince Kuni, the emperor's father-in-law, at Taihu, Formosa, May 14, has been removed. The attempt was made by a 21 year old Korean, who hurled a dagger at the prince as his motor passed. The dagger struck the chauffeur, who was slightly injured. The Korean is held for trial.

The prince was driving from the Taihu station after inspecting military bodies as the imperial envoy. As the prince's motor passed a youth dressed as a laborer leaped from the crowd, seizing the rear of the prince's automobile, and attempted to stab him with a dagger. When it was apparent that he could not enter the car, the Korean threw the dagger, which missed the prince, hitting the chauffeur.

The police seized the man, who said his name was Cho Melka. He has been in Japan since 1924 as an agent of the Korean revolutionaries to assassinate Japanese leaders.

It is reported that the governor general of Formosa tendered his resignation as a result of the incident. The attempt apparently reveals the fact that there are considerable Korean revolutionary plots afoot, since the assassin admitted to the police that he came from Japan with the express purpose of conducting assassinations.

Convicted, Gets 15 Years for Attacking Young Girl

Frank Troutman, 40, of 518 West 48th place, a wrecking engineer, was found guilty by a jury yesterday in Judge Frank Comerford's Criminal court on a charge of attacking a 13 year old girl. His punishment was fixed by the jury at 15 years in the penitentiary and the judge indicated to Assistant State's Attorney Harry Ditchburne that he would overrule a motion for a new trial. Troutman was tried once before, but the jury disagreed.

ADVERTISE IN THE CHICAGO TRIBUNE

DEFENDS ISLAND AIRPORT PROJECT AS SAFE METHOD

Critics Mistaken, Kemp Declares.

Critics of Chicago's proposed new $5,000,000 lake front island airport betray slight knowledge of its proposed location or equipment, Philip G. Kemp, member of the Chicago aero commission, declared yesterday.

Mr. Kemp, a veteran flyer, is an official of United Air Lines which plans to use Chicago as a base for service soon to be established.

"It should be remembered that the proposed new field, according to the plans, will be large enough to permit safe take offs in any direction," Mr. Kemp said.

Thinks Opponents Misinformed.
"I think it is lack of information on this and other important facts that caused many flyers to speak against it."

"For instance, the field will be fully 2,000 feet from the lake shore line. The island will be large enough for runways three thousand feet long in every direction from the top of point. The field will be a square mile in area, about twice as large as the Cicero avenue field."

"When experienced flyers are acquainted with these facts I'm sure they'll agree adequate provision be made. A location 2,000 feet out in the lake, together with runways 3,000 feet long, eliminates all danger from tall buildings."

"To add to the safety features, it is planned to build this airport between 16th and 31st streets, which is far enough south to eliminate the building menace."

Mr. Kemp admitted weather conditions, of course, would prevent use of any such port part of the time. But he declared, the present municipal field at 63d street and Cicero avenue also is put out of service occasionally for the same reason.

Calls Two Ports Essential.
"This shows Chicago needs two airports, and needs them both without further delay," he said. "When one would be out of commission, the other would be available. It must be kept in mind, too, that the lake front landing field is intended merely as a depot, all repair shops and storage hangars being located elsewhere, as railroads provide shops and yards separate from their main terminals."

The question of the proposed new airport probably will be taken up this morning by the city council committee on aviation, of which Ald. Dorsey Crowe (45d) is chairman.

URGES ADEQUATE NAVY TO PROTECT U. S. "IRON MEN"

U. S. Attache Appeals to Business Men.

BY JAY ALLEN.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)
(Copyright: 1928: By The Chicago Tribune.)
PARIS, June 14.—On the eve of his retirement as United States naval attaché here to command the Detroit, flagship of the U. S. European fleet, Capt. Richard D. White appealed, in a speech at the American club, for a big navy. He advanced picturesque reasons.

"There is a threadbare argument," he said, "that having no far-flung colonies we need no navy for protection for our trade routes. Gentlemen, every American dollar invested in a foreign land is an American colonist."

Cheered by Business Men.
While the business men, who are in majority at the American club, cheered him continued:

"You gentlemen are the governors of these provinces, if you only knew it, and the lines of communication between the home land and these iron men colonies are just as exacting for protection as the other better exploited lines to the colonies that we hear so much palaver about."

This was the only reference in the captain's speech to America's naval rivals. During his incumbency in the Paris embassy Capt. White's remarks on several occasions have attracted wide attention at home. He denies, however, that his transfer can in any way be interpreted as official displeasure.

"Help Fill Dinner Pails."
"American trade abroad is the root of the prosperity America enjoys today," he said. "It helps the American worker with the full dinner pail, and cannot continue without an adequate navy, for history has too many examples of nations risen to prosperity, which declined through neglect of their navies."

Court Refuses Ex-Convict's Claim to Jennings Estate
Judge H. Sterling Pomeroy yesterday denied a claim of Edward C. Koestner, an ex-convict, to the $5,000,000 estate of the late Edwin B. Jennings, eccentric reclusive. Koestner charged that a will naming him the sole beneficiary had been stolen from the files of the Probate court and a spurious document substituted. Today Judge Pomeroy will hear Koestner's evidence on his claim to the fortune as the professed son of Jennings by a secret marriage. Koestner is opposed in both cases by seven cousins of Jennings.

JOCKO ESCAPES, BUT NOW REGRETS DASH TO LIBERTY

Until noon Wednesday, Jocko was the pet of four year old Anita Gaynor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Theodore Gaynor of 1133 East Marquette road. Then the little brown monkey felt the urge to wander. So when Mrs. Gaynor reached through the bars of his cage to fondle him and the door of the cage accidentally opened Jocko hopped out.

It was not enough for Jocko to secure the freedom of the kitchen. There were other worlds to conquer. He ran through the open kitchen door.

When next she heard of Jocko, he was on the steeple of the Christ Episcopal church, 5th street and Woodlawn avenue, besieged by police and firemen, the latter with all their apparatus. Ladders were of no avail. He scoffed at nets. He tried a nearby porch, and while trying to elude a fireman's grasp, lost his hold, and fell three stories, suffering a broken leg.

Mrs. Florence Hoakanson, 1725 East 5th street, from whose porch Jocko had made his forced descent, caught the monkey. Now Jocko is recuperating in an animal hospital, with plenty of opportunity to ponder on the folly of roving in a big city.

To friends of Hires, this timely warning:

The heritage of success is often a horde of imitators who seek by subterfuge to prey upon a leader.

Counterfeiters seek to exact such a penalty from Hires. Fifty years of popularity afford an opportunity for unscrupulous imitators.

You pay the same for common root beer as for the genuine, delicious Hires.

It is a grave deception. It hurts the good name of the new-day Hires, for you are disappointed in the flavor of the ordinary root beer and unknowingly blame Hires. We realize your predicament.

But you can tell by taste if you ask for Hires, not for root beer. For no imitation has ever approached our recipe.

We include the rare juices of 16 roots, herbs, berries, and barks, and command the world market of the choicest. Ordinary root beers have but few ingredients.

We own a vast plantation in Cuba so as to guarantee a supply of pure cane sugar.

We have developed a costly, intricate process of percolation, to extract the pure juices from the roots.

Ordinary root beers which claim to be "like Hires" or "the same as Hires" are insipid, tasteless. Ask for Hires by name—not for root beer.

HIRES IS OFFERED IN TWO FORMS:

- 1—by the glass, at all fine soda fountains.
- 2—bottled, ready to serve—at groceries and delicatessens.

ALSO

There is Hires Household Extract for making root beer at home—a 30c bottle makes 5 gallons—as grocers and delicatessens.

SUICIDE LEAVE OF S

Lavezzorio Part t

John Lavezzorio, 40 years of age at the time of his death, left an estate of $100,000. He was a fruit merchant and a successful business man. The will directed that the estate be divided among his children and his wife. The final settlement of the estate is expected to be completed by the end of the year.

Part G
Ten per cent of the estate is to be given to the will. The balance of the estate is to be divided among the children. The will also directed that the children be educated in the best manner possible.

The will of Mr. Lavezzorio was made in 1910. He was a successful business man and a generous donor to charity. He died of a heart attack on May 15, 1928.

POLICEMAN BY ANOTHER NAME LOSES

Patrolman James Lowe, 35, of the 1st division, was himself shot in the chest last night while on duty. He was shot by a man who was trying to escape from the police. Lowe was taken to the hospital and is expected to recover.

The wounded patrolman was shot while on duty in the Loop. He was shot in the chest and was taken to the hospital. He is expected to recover.

ROBBERY AT CLO

SUICIDE VICTIM LEAVES ESTATE OF $1,000,000

Lavezzorio Will Is Filed;
Part to Charity.

John Lavezzorio, born in Italy of parents who brought him to Chicago at the age of 5, some fifty years ago, left an estate of $1,000,000 when he committed suicide on June 2. The estimate of his wealth was made with the filing of his will yesterday before Edward S. Schaffner, assistant to Probate Judge Henry Horner. He had accumulated more than a million as a fruit merchant and realty investor. The will discloses there was an unpropitious financial contract between himself and his wife, Mrs. Maria Lavezzorio, 4908 Addison street, whereby she was to receive a $10,000 annuity in lieu of all claims on the estate in the event she survived him. The final testament, however, nullified this contract and more, by giving her 40 per cent of the income from the estate. She was cashier of the firm for twelve years before their marriage in 1921.

Part Goes to Charity.
Ten per cent of the income from the estate is to be spent, in compliance with the will, "in relief of poverty, sickness and distress and in the promotion of education and help for the suffering in the city of Chicago." Another ten per cent is to be used by the trustees in improving the real estate he held. The remaining forty per cent of the income is to be shared by his relatives.

Lavezzorio drowned himself in Silver Lake, Mich., near his summer home.
Genther Will Filed.
The will of Mrs. Jennie B. Genther, widow of Charles F. Genther, candy manufacturer, was also filed yesterday. She died May 21 at the age of 79 and left an estate of $235,000 principally to charity. No children survived her.

POLICEMAN SHOT BY ANOTHER AND LOSES PRISONERS

Norman James Daley, 29, of 3158 Lowe avenue, lost two prisoners and was himself shot by another policeman last night when, in plain clothes, he led the pair into a drug store at East 11th street and Rhodes avenue. As Daley, without identifying himself, pushed his prisoners into the drug store, the proprietor, Morris Lavezzorio, suspecting a holdup, ran out the rear door and summoned Patrolman Edward Mason, colored, who, upon seeing Daley's gun, opened fire, hitting his leg. Daley, falling, a while in his leg, and the prisoners fled.

The wounded policeman, a member of a detective squad, was taken to Holy hospital, and Mason was taken to the Cottage Grove avenue station as to the reason for his quick-temper shooting.

J. GALLERY, VETERAN POLICE CAPTAIN, IS DEAD

Dies at End of Trip Home from Coast.

Capt. Michael J. Gallery, veteran of the police department and father of the famous Gallery movie actor, died yesterday at his home, 4630 North Paulina street, a few hours after arriving from California. Capt. Gallery was 62 years old, and a native of County Clare, Ireland. He came to Chicago with his parents when a boy. Five weeks ago Capt. Gallery, who had recently been promoted to North Division station, suffered a severe attack of what appeared to be laryngitis. Despite his illness he journeyed to Los Angeles to visit his son, Thomas, and a younger son, Daniel, a student at the University of Southern California.

Incidents on Trip Home.
In California, following an operation upon his throat, physicians informed Capt. Gallery he had not long to live, but the captain retorted defiantly: "I'll beat you doctors yet," and insisted upon returning to Chicago upon learning that his small grandson, Robert E. Gallery Jr., was seriously ill at St. Francis hospital. He was accompanied home by his wife, Mrs. Annie Gallery.

Thomas and Daniel Gallery, informed by telephone of their father's death, left Los Angeles immediately by plane for Chicago. Capt. Gallery joined the police force in 1890. He was made a sergeant in 1900, a lieutenant in 1912, and a captain in 1918. His thirty-eight year career as a police officer was colorful and he was more than once cited for bravery.

Six Children Survive.
Besides his widow and the sons in California, Capt. Gallery is survived by two daughters, Miss Erin Gallery and Mrs. Rose O'Meara; by two other sons, Robert E. Gallery, 1729 Bryn Mawr avenue, and John Gallery, and by five grandchildren. Capt. Gallery of the Rogers Park station is a brother, and Mrs. Annie Holmes and Mrs. Katherine Smith of Chicago and Mrs. Elizabeth Egan of Seattle, Wash. are sisters. Funeral services will be held on Monday at Our Lady of Lourdes church, Leland and Ashland avenues. Interment will be at Calvary cemetery.

STUDENTS' AUTO TRIP ENDS WITH 2 HELD AS THIEVES

Miss Rae Bernstein, 19, of 1256 South Kolin avenue, and Mrs. Cecelia Berenzweig, 21, 517 Oakdale avenue, student musicians, were released by the police yesterday afternoon while their two companions, Maxine Kipnis, 20, of 2536 Cortez street, and Irving Lieberman, 24, of 2441 Haddon street, were held for robbery.

The two couples were arrested at 3 a. m., several hours after the disappearance of E. B. Zoub, 1358 North Milwaukee avenue, who robbed the young women—Mrs. Berenzweig is estranged from her husband—said they had gone riding with the young men and that they had sat in the automobile outside of the drugstore, not knowing what their companions were doing inside.

LOOP CANDY STORE IS ROBBED.
A robber entered Andy's chocolate shop at 172 West Randolph street last night and after forcing Miss Georgia Fynn and Miss Hope Lawrie, employees of the store, into a rear room, escaped with $42 from the cash register. A man similarly dressed has robbed a number of loop candy stores recently.

DRYS STAGE WILD GIN PARTIES FOR 15 CHORUS GIRLS

Snooped in a Milwaukee
Hotel for 2 Months.

Milwaukee, Wis., June 14.—(Special.)—Wild gin parties at which 15 chorus girls were entertained by federal prohibition agents from southern Illinois were depicted before Court Commissioner Harry Kilgore today in the preliminary hearing against Joseph Budar, proprietor of the St. Charles hotel.

Budar and five employees of the hotel were arrested for violation of the Volstead law, but the government today lessened the charge to maintenance of a nuisance. Counsel for the defense objected to the amended complaint.

Henry Strawn, former Jacksonville,

Ill. deputy sheriff, was one of the four dry agents who began investigation of the hotel on March 1. He testified that on the first day as a guest he had purchased liquor on each of the five floors of the hostelry.

"There were liquor parties in a number of rooms and the chorus girls and other theatrical persons were frequent guests," Strawn declared. "We entertained 15 of the girls at a party that didn't break up until 2 a. m."

Frequently Strawn would take some of the girls to the Gottlieb cafe across the street, he testified. The latter cafe also was raided several weeks ago. The agents conducted their investigation, parties and drinking bouts for two months before making the raid.

Counsel for the defense, in cross-examination of Strawn, attempted to prove that sale of liquor in the hotel was made only by the bell boys and unknown to Budar.

Padlock proceedings have been instituted against the hotel, which has 125 rooms.

THREE OF NOBILE PARTY REPORTED SAVED IN ARCTIC

Radio Says Men Found by Relief Ship.

KINGS BAY, Spitzbergen, June 14. (U. P.)—Three members of the crew of the wrecked arctic dirigible Italia have been rescued by a landing party on the Norwegian relief ship Hoboy, message from the rescue ship Brann received here today said.

Prof. Finn Malmgren, the Swedish scientist, was among those rescued, according to the dispatch, which did not name the others. The Braganza reported it had reached North East land, toward which Gen. Nobile last was reported drifting.

Party Is Marooned. Kings Bay, Spitzbergen, June 14. (U. P.)—Hope that Gen. Umberto Nobile and the five men marooned with him on the ice near Foyen island might be able to make their way to some of the islands of land in that vicinity were virtually dispelled tonight. Word came that due to the injuries to Gen. Nobile and to Natale Cecconi, the motor chief, who suffered a broken leg when the dirigible Italia crashed, the party is unable to move from its present position.

Gen. Nobile asked for snow spectacles, snow shoes, medicines and gum boots. This list is eloquent of the condition which he and his companions are facing. It indicates that the glare of the sun on the snow has affected their eyesight and that the wet has softened their feet so they suffer from wet snow.

Measures to intercept the foot travelers, who started May 30 for Cape North, have been taken by Capt. Riser-Larsen, who, with Lieut. Luetzowholm, is in the north with sea planes aboard the steamer Hoboy. Capt. Riser-Larsen reported tonight that pack ice extended so far that the use of airplanes was impossible but that he and Lieut. Holm will try to make a flight eastward later on.

Fate of Others Uncertain. Communication between the Nobile party and the base ship has been continuous, although with long intervals between messages. Every effort has been made to encourage the castaways, who have been informed of the various expeditions hastening to their aid. Gen. Nobile himself has expressed confidence that rescue now is a certainty.

The fate of the seven men carried off in the balloon part of the Italia and of the three who left the Nobile group in an effort to make their way to North cape is problematical. Both these parties are thought to be well supplied, unless the balloon was caught up by the wind and blown away after the men reached the ice.

Dog Teams Start Over Ice. ROME, June 14. (U. P.)—Word was received here today that search for three missing members of the crew of the airship Italia had been started with dog teams.

Clothes Afire, Jumps Into Sewer and Saves His Life

Galesburg, Ill., June 14. (U. P.)—Charles Willis, truck driver, saved his life today by jumping into an open sewer with his clothes afire. He was pumping gasoline into his truck from a nearby tank when the pump house caught fire. Willis is in a hospital, but not seriously burned.

ATLANTIC STORM BREWS; WOMEN FLYERS WARNED

Miss Earhart's Plane Makes Trial Hop.

New York, June 14. (U. P.)—Dr. James H. Kimball, United States weather bureau meteorologist, tonight told the Associated Press that he had advised Miss Mabel Boll and Miss Amelia Earhart not to hop off from Newfoundland tomorrow on their projected trans-Atlantic flights.

Miss Earhart's plane, Friendship, is at Trapeze, N. F. The Columbia in which Miss Boll plans her flight is poised on the runway at Harbor Grace, N. F., 80 miles away, ready for an immediate take-off.

Storm Is Brewing. An unexpected storm has developed in mid-Atlantic, Dr. Kimball said, with dense fog and rain squalls between Newfoundland and the Azores all along the great circle course.

The storm is moving too slowly to predict its drift, but it already has affected the weather off Newfoundland where fog has descended. The storm center is not far from the north Atlantic ice patrol, and stretches eastward from the Azores toward the Irish coast.

If it increases in intensity, Dr. Kimball said, it may postpone the flights for several days.

Plane Takes Air.

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] ST. JOHNS, N. F., June 14.—The monoplane Friendship, at Trapeze, N. F., took to the air at 5:45 this morning and made a successful test flight. After putting canvas over the engines, the plane went back to shore. A wind is blowing from the northeast, and there is a fine fresh breeze. Pilot Wilmer Stultz, with Miss Amelia Earhart and Mechanic Lou Gordon, expect to take off for the Azores islands at 2 a. m. tomorrow, according to an announcement by Miss Earhart.

DAUGHTER SUES ALLEGED KILLERS OF "BLACK MONK"

[Chicago Tribune Press Service.] PARIS, June 14.—Maria Gregorova Rasputin, daughter of the "Black Monk," whose association with the Russian imperial family forms one of the strangest chapters in the history of Europe's royal houses, today filed suit in the French courts for one million dollars damages against Prince Felix Youssouf and Grand Duke Dimitri Pavlovitch for the monk's murder.

In a recent book, Prince Felix tells how he and Grand Duke Dimitri lured Gregory Rasputin to a hunting lodge, finally overcame his almost superhuman resistance with poison bullets, and dropped him, dead, in a hole in the ice of the Neva river.

"Prince Felix's guilt, which always was well known, is admitted in such a way as to impress any court in his book," M. Maurice Garcon, Maria's attorney, avers.

JOHN E. BYRNES, SCHOOL BOARD OFFICIAL, WEDS

John E. Byrnes, former business manager of the board of education and now head of the board's bureau of real estate, was married Wednesday, June 8, to Miss Eleanor Lee, 7408 Sheridan road. It was learned yesterday.

Following their honeymoon in the east they will reside at Mr. Byrnes' home, 2107 East 72d place. Mr. Byrnes has been an employee of the school board for nearly 20 years. Under the Dever administration he was business manager, but recently was succeeded by Ernest Withall. Mrs. Byrnes is a niece of Miss Elizabeth Murphy, assistant superintendent of schools, with whom she lived prior to the marriage.

GIRL TRIES RAZOR DEATH. Carbondale, Ill., June 14. (Special.)—Miss Martha O'Neal, 18 years old, high school girl, will, however, physicians said, from injuries self-administered with a razor late yesterday, during a spell of despondency.

In the seventh, when Wilson got the first pass of the game, Stephenson smacked one which for an instant seemed to be a homer, but Carey, who had just relieved the awkward Mr. Herman, backed against the fence and pulled it down. Grimm and McMillan fled out.

The Robins made their second run in the seventh, Bresler got the first ball from Neft but was forced by Blazette. Tyson singled and Blazette stopped at second. Big Del scored when Bancroft singled off Cuyler's shoe laces. Hollins fled to Cuyler and Pott forced Bancroft.

You know what happened in the Cubs glorious eighth, Partridge going in for Flowers started the Brooklyn chalk with a single but Hendrick hit into a double play and Carey was out to Grimm unassisted.

Two errors after two were down in the ninth encouraged the Cubs to add three more in the final session. After Hartnett and Bush were down Partridge made a bad throw on Beck. English lined to left and Tyson sought to make an unnecessary grand stand catch. He dropped the ball and runners were on second and third, they came in on Cuyler's third hit, a single to center. Wilson doubled, scoring Cuyler. Stephenson fled to left.

Receipts Pass $100,000 for Walker Bout

Mickey Walker and Ace Haddins will meet not only for the world's middleweight championship at the White Sox baseball park next Thursday night, but also for a percentage of the largest receipts in the history of the 160 pound division.

The advance sale has passed the $100,000 mark and Promoter James C. Stulen forecast yesterday the gate will be well over $150,000, the largest in the history of the middleweight class. Jack Kearns, manager of Walker, is certain the gross receipts will be greater than that sum.

Most of the middleweight fights have been held indoors, which accounts for the comparatively small gate.

In 1923 Benny Leonard and Lew Rindler drew a gate of $452,448 in New York City. This is the largest of any class of fighters before the light heavyweight division. In 1926 Jack Delaney and Paul Berlenbach drew $577,557 in New York City, the largest purse in the history of the light heavyweights. Jack Dempsey and Mike Gibbons drew only $391,485 at Shelby, Mont., in 1925.

When Gene Tunney and Jack Dempsey met for the heavyweight championship on Soldiers' field last September nearly 150,000 paid $2,553,600 to file into the stadium. This is the largest purse in the history of boxing.

With the title and so much money at stake, champion and challenger are leaving nothing undone to get into shape. Walker, who has been in training for two months, laid off yesterday. Trainer Teddy Hayes asserted the champion is on edge, and does not need much work. Mickey will resume boxing this afternoon at the Hawthorne race track.

Haddins put in another busy day. After doing his road work through Lincoln park in the morning, Ace boxed with Billy Atkinson, Johnny Gerard, and Dixie Kid at the Mills stadium. Buses will leave from 130 West Randolph street this afternoon at 4 o'clock for both camps.

Berg Whips Mueller with Clever Left

BY WALTER ECKERSALL.

A straight left hand, one of a fighter's greatest assets, gave Jack Berg, the English lightweight, the decision over Freddie Mueller of Buffalo in the windup of Promoter James Mullen's boxing show at Mills' stadium last night. Berg won nine of the ten rounds and at times had Mueller's ear knocked down.

The attractive card drew 6,000 to the west side park and the receipts were $10,000, according to the report of the boxing commission.

Berg flashed as clever a left hand as there is in the lightweight division with the exception of Champion Sammy Mandell. He sometimes jabbed it to Freddie's face four times without returns and his left hook rocked Mueller's head. In addition Berg did most of the leading.

Mueller was aggressive, but he failed to execute with his boring tactics. Berg blocked most of his foe's wild swings with his forearms and gloves.

The seventh round could be called even, but Jack had the advantage in the other nine. Berg weighed 134½ pounds and Mueller 136.

The left hand was in evidence again in the ten round semi-windup between Archie Bell of Brooklyn and Young Nationalista. Bell won the decision by stabbing the Filipino repeatedly with his left and holding off his opponent with the same hand. Archie showed to good advantage both at infighting and at long range. Nationalista connected with wild swings, but Bell generally came right back with three or four straight lefts. It was a tough, punching fight, and both were marked when they left the ring. Bell scaled 119½ pounds and his opponent 118½.

Joey Medill, the west side lightweight, took the decision from Steve McDonald of Toronto. It was a fast fight full of action, but Joey landed the scoring punches in the majority of the rounds. They met at 135 pounds. Solly Schuman, the Central A. A. U. flyweight champion, made good in his first professional appearance by taking the four round decision from Emkey Baker of England. They met at 117 pounds.

Earl Mastro, the west side bantam weight, won decisively from Mike Sansone of Kansas City in the other fight of six rounds. Mastro staggered the Kansas City fighter several times with left and right hooks, but he was unable to put him down for a count. They weighed 124 pounds.

BEST HORSES AT ARLINGTON MAY CLASH TOMORROW

Star Band Likely to Go in Secondary Feature.

The secondary feature at Arlington tomorrow at a mile and an eighth may attract one of the star bands of the year on the western side of the American turf. Chicago, Handy Mandy, Sir Harry, Crystal Pennant, Flat Iron, Mike Hall, and Flagstaff are all prospective starters. It isn't often a field of this class goes to the post in anything less than a $10,000 handicap.

Willie Frank, who rode E. S. Jordan to victory, had to explain to the stewards how he came over next to the rail in the stretch, and out Lady Marie in yesterday's feature.

M. E. Waldron of Evanston will entertain about 100 members of the C. & E. Jockey club at Arlington tomorrow afternoon. The party will make the trip in a private car over the Chicago and North Western, and a luncheon will be served in the Egyptian tea room.

EARLY LOSSES IN WHEAT AND CORN ARE WIPED OUT

BY CHARLES MICHAELS.

Related liquidation was off in the grain markets, with a new low on the crop-on December wheat and September and December corn, yesterday, but an oversold condition developed and wheat advanced 1/8¢ to 1 1/8¢ from the low point and closed within a fraction of the top, with net gains of 1 1/2¢. July corn broke 1/4¢ on Wednesday's finish to 35¢, or 5¢ under the outside figure of last week, but the close was at the top, with prices 1/4¢ higher, the latter on December. Oats were unchanged to 1/4¢ higher and 1/4¢ to 1/8¢ higher. There was much less trading in wheat of late, and the break in corn had some effect early when the lowest figure of the day was made. The technical position, however, was materially strengthened by the decline of 3/4¢ from the recent high on July, and later a government report indicating that wheat was doing damage to wheat in Indiana and Nebraska led to free buying, with prices offering small, and general short covering developed toward the close. Molecules with foreign and northwestern connections were persistent buyers, and helped absorb the surplus in the pit. There was also buying here against sales at Winnipeg to close spreads. More News Needed.

While there have been good rains in parts of the northwest of late more moisture was reported as needed in some sections both in the American and Canadian northwest. Foreigners showed more interest in cash wheat and took over 1,000,000 bu of Manitoba and durum in all positions. Winnipeg gained 1/8¢ for the day, while Liverpool was depressed by increased offers of 3/4¢. Laterally Argentine grain and closed 1/8¢ to 1/4¢ lower. Heavy liquidation by longs was in July corn early, and there was free selling on stop loss orders, and also some sympathy for the decline of 1/4¢ in the Chicago futures. The downward movement was checked by buying by shorts and commission houses and against bids, and a rally of 1/8¢ to 1/4¢ from the inside figures followed, the late strength in wheat having some effect. Generally fair and warm weather prevailed over the corn belt, but had little effect, while the cash demand was much better, with sales of 314,000 bu.

Oats in Strong Rally. Holders of July oats were persistent sellers early, but the market rallied in sympathy with other grains and on short covering and closed at the top. There was some buying of July against sales of September at 1/4¢ to 1/8¢ difference. Iowa weekly weather crop report indicated that the new crop was heading short. Trades in rye were not large and the market easily influenced, scattered selling causing an early break with the pit, but well toward the top with other grains. A little export business was put through at the seaboard.

LARD AT FAIR BREAK. Expectations of lard stocks showing 100,000,000 or even 150,000,000 in the Friday report, combined with the early weakness in corn had a depressing effect on lard values. There was little credit to cash and foreign interests, by scattered buying and by buyers. Buying was only fair. The close was at the level of the previous day, with net losses of 1/4¢ to 1/8¢. Laterally Argentine grain and closed 1/8¢ to 1/4¢ lower. Heavy liquidation by longs was in July corn early, and there was free selling on stop loss orders, and also some sympathy for the decline of 1/4¢ in the Chicago futures. The downward movement was checked by buying by shorts and commission houses and against bids, and a rally of 1/8¢ to 1/4¢ from the inside figures followed, the late strength in wheat having some effect. Generally fair and warm weather prevailed over the corn belt, but had little effect, while the cash demand was much better, with sales of 314,000 bu.

HESSIAN FLY IN WHEAT. A report by the Washington bureau of entomology, agriculture department, says that the hessian fly, a pest of wheat, has been found in the wheat fields of Illinois and Indiana. In wheat fields of Illinois the hessian fly was found in considerable numbers, and in Indiana there is heavy infestation. In Nebraska infestation is general, but not heavy.

Marriages Are Increasing, but So Are Divorces

BY DORIS BLAKE.

The census bureau at Washington has just compiled marriage and divorce statistics for the year 1933. These show an increase in the mounting divorce rate. At the same time, they show marriage on the whole hasn't lost its popularity, either. Marriages are increasing, too, but not at as fast a rate as divorces.

In 1934 it is shown the rate was 1.54 divorces for every 1,000 of the population. Or, fifteen divorces for every hundred marriages performed. The 1934 divorce record triples those obtained in 1887.

The statistics show that marriage was at its peak of popularity in 1929 when the soldiers were returning after the war. There were then nearly twelve marriages for every 1,000 population. Then there was a falling off. In 1926 with the slight rise over immediately previous years, there were ten marriages to every 1,000 persons. The total number of marriages in 1926 was 1,202,574 and divorces aggregated 130,853. As compared with 1925 marriage and divorce record, 1926 shows over 14,000 more marriages and over 5,000 more divorces.

Considered sectionally as the east, north, central division, the record states that in 1934 Ohio, Indiana, Illinois, Michigan and Wisconsin saw more marriages and more divorces than in any other section of the country.

New York state had the lowest divorce rate for 1934 and Nevada the highest, explaining by the laws of these respective states. There are nearly 23 divorces for every 1,000 married persons in Nevada. Reno is situated there.

A Friend in Need

BY SALLY JOY BROWN.

Children Want to Learn Piano. "I wonder if one of your readers has a music instruction book for the piano? My children are eager to learn to play and with the aid of an instruction book I can help them. E. G."

If your children have successfully mastered the first steps in music and no longer need their instruction book, would you send one to this mother, shows over 14,000 more marriages and over 5,000 more divorces.

Artificial Limb. "I have an artificial limb for the left foot which can be used by any one having the leg amputated from the knee. Would one of your readers care to have it? E. C."

The invalid who can make use of this artificial limb will find it a comfort and a help.

The statistics show more divorces granted on grounds of cruelty and desertion than for any other reason. Over seven-tenths of all 1933 divorces were for those two causes.

The figures show that 70 per cent of all divorces are granted to wives. Desertion was the frequent cause of divorce granted husbands, while cruelty was woman's commonest claim.

In 1926 the divorces granted couples married less than one year were $171, an increase of $69 over 1925. Fifty-seven per cent of couples obtaining divorces in 1926 had no children.

NEW YORK RIPE FOR RATE WAR WITH CHICAGO

Rage at Recent Freight Reductions West.

BY TOM PETTEY.

(Chicago Tribune Press Service.)

New York, June 14.—(Special.)—The east is marshaling its forces for a rate war with the Midwest. The growing discontent in the ranks of manufacturers here, which first made itself apparent immediately after the joint rail-steamship rates from Chicago to the Pacific coast were lowered two weeks ago, has taken the form of bitter protests to the interstate commerce commission.

The New York State Chamber of Commerce is directing the fight against what it calls "uneconomic freight rates," and asks "if the Chicago manufacturer is to have his territory enlarged in such a manner, why should not the manufacturers in other districts be entitled to the same consideration?"

H. Hobart Potter, chairman of the chamber's committee on internal trade and improvements, said today he considered "government regulations which permit one community less favorably situated to overcome the natural physical disadvantages of another an unsound practice and a legislation of economic waste."

East Loses First Round.

The first move against the freight rates from Chicago to New Orleans and the water haul through the Panama canal to the Pacific coast met defeat.

A protest and petition for their suspension was made by the Central Freight association, the Trunk Line association and the New England association, but the interstate commerce commission upheld them and they became effective May 31.

The New York chamber immediately stepped into the breach and, after a series of meetings, drew up resolutions addressed to the interstate commerce commission, indorsing the fight by other eastern organizations and demanding equally favorable rates for the Atlantic seaboard. The resolutions were unanimously adopted by the chamber Thursday.

The chamber's protest, after outlining the Chicago rate reductions on canned goods, lumber and other products, when shipped to tidewater points beyond New Orleans in connection with the Redwood Steamship line, stated that "it is obvious that the reduction will bring about a general disruption in the railroad rate fabric."

An Instance Cited.

"The new rate," the report says, "makes a charge on steel, for instance, from Chicago to New Orleans, $15 miles, of approximately the same amount as the present rate from Buffalo to New York, a distance of 300 miles. This advantage is given the Chicago manufacturer, although he has long been able to produce steel as cheaply as the Buffalo maker, and controls the market in the interior west."

The report declared that "the chamber hereby protests against the operation of this joint tariff or other schedules which will make rail and water rates unduly preferable to Chicago and deprive communities in the state of New York of their natural advantage of proximity to the seaboard."

Retaliation is hinted. Predictions were privately made by manufacturers and chamber of commerce officials that the action of the Illinois Central and Midwest organizations in bringing about the reductions would result in a rate war.

It is generally believed here that the eastern railroads are willing to agree to lower rates for short hauls to the seaboard in order to retain and stimulate their business. However, no one connected with railway offices here would go on record as approving of such a reduction.

MRS. PANKHURST, WOMEN'S VOTE CHAMPION, DIES

LONDON, June 14.—(U.P.)—Mrs. Emmeline Pankhurst, once England's most militant suffragette, died in a nursing home here today. She was 88 years of age.

Death came to Mrs. Pankhurst just before she might have fulfilled the highest ambition of her stormy career, namely, to become a member of that parliament she had so long and valiantly fought. But she lived long enough to witness the full accomplishment of the aim to which she courageously devoted the whole of her public life.

LITTLE ORPHAN ANNIE: Moral Principles Vs. Safety First

DELETE UTILITY CRITICISM FROM SCHOOL BOOKS

Insult Helps Pay for U. S. Survey.

Washington, D. C., June 14.—(U.P.)—Cooperation with Ginn & Co., school book publishers, by the text book committee of the National Electric Light association to delete objectionable material from a text book used by 100,000 students and the expenditure of $15,000 for a nation-wide survey purporting to show the failure and deficiencies of municipally owned and operated power plants were disclosed by two Chicago witnesses today in the federal trade commission's utility investigation.

Fred J. Jenkins of Chicago, chairman of the text book committee, testified that the deletions were made and matter substituted in a text book written by Howard Copeland Hill, University of Chicago instructor.

Public Service Magazine, H. J. Genden of Chicago, publisher of the Public Service magazine, testified that the deletions were made and matter substituted in a text book written by Howard Copeland Hill, University of Chicago instructor.

His testimony and that of Hugh M. Blain of New Orleans, director of the Louisiana-Mississippi committee on public utility information, revealed that the Public Service magazine had been widely distributed to members of state legislatures and officials of state utility commissions at the expense of utility companies. The magazine consistently has fought government ownership through its articles, Genden said, and published articles supposed to government operation of Muscle Shoals and federal construction of Boulder dam.

One of the objectionable portions of Hill's book that was deleted, read "as late as 1925, a man then serving as the president of a number of electric light companies in the middle west gave in a single primary election over $200,000 to the campaign funds of candidates to both parties." This was understood to refer to Samuel Insull of Chicago.

Letters introduced into the record said that when Ginn & Co. began operating the smaller companies would fall in line. A report of a meeting of the committee with representatives of Ginn & Co. showed that Henry H. Hilton and O. J. Layland, of the publishing concern welcomed the criticisms of the utility associations of their text books and said they "would be glad to submit all manuscripts bearing on public utilities to this committee or its representatives for suggestion."

Retaliation is hinted. Predictions were privately made by manufacturers and chamber of commerce officials that the action of the Illinois Central and Midwest organizations in bringing about the reductions would result in a rate war.

It is generally believed here that the eastern railroads are willing to agree to lower rates for short hauls to the seaboard in order to retain and stimulate their business. However, no one connected with railway offices here would go on record as approving of such a reduction.

gestions and changes, not, however, binding themselves or the author to adopt such suggestions.

The report added that the publishers "would consider it a privilege to have such a committee to review their manuscripts and would like to use this fact publicly in their sale and distribution."

Jenkins did not specify whether the revised text book which was entitled "Community Life and Civic Problems" was used in high schools or colleges.

JOHN H. GRACE, RAIL EQUIPMENT MAKER, IS DEAD

John H. Grace, head of the railroad equipment company bearing his name, died yesterday at the West Suburban hospital in Oak Park after an illness of two weeks. For twenty-six years Mr. Grace, who was 59 years old and lived at 516 North Oak Park avenue, Oak Park, was assistant general appraisal agent for the Chicago and North Western railroad. Death was caused by a heart ailment.

Mr. Grace is survived by a wife and three children. He was a member of the Union League and Oak Park clubs. Funeral services will be held at the first Methodist church of Oak Park Monday.

One of the objectionable portions of Hill's book that was deleted, read "as late as 1925, a man then serving as the president of a number of electric light companies in the middle west gave in a single primary election over $200,000 to the campaign funds of candidates to both parties." This was understood to refer to Samuel Insull of Chicago.

Letters introduced into the record said that when Ginn & Co. began operating the smaller companies would fall in line. A report of a meeting of the committee with representatives of Ginn & Co. showed that Henry H. Hilton and O. J. Layland, of the publishing concern welcomed the criticisms of the utility associations of their text books and said they "would be glad to submit all manuscripts bearing on public utilities to this committee or its representatives for suggestion."

Retaliation is hinted. Predictions were privately made by manufacturers and chamber of commerce officials that the action of the Illinois Central and Midwest organizations in bringing about the reductions would result in a rate war.

It is generally believed here that the eastern railroads are willing to agree to lower rates for short hauls to the seaboard in order to retain and stimulate their business. However, no one connected with railway offices here would go on record as approving of such a reduction.

EXCLUSIVE RIGHT TO BUILD TIRES DENIED BY COURT

Detroit, Mich., June 14.—(U.P.)—The right of the Steel Wheel corporation, of Lansing, Mich., to manufacture balloons tires exclusively in the United States, was denied today in a decision by federal Judge Arthur J. Tuttle in the corporation's patent infringement suit against the B. F. Goodrich Rubber company, of Akron, O.

Judge Tuttle refused to sustain the Alden L. Putnam patent for balloon tires, held by the Steel Wheel corporation, the basis of the suit. Millions of dollars in royalties would have been due if the wheel firm won its suit.

The court held Putnam, the inventor, was not the first to use the methods for manufacture of tires set forth in his patent application.

Counsel for the Steel Wheel corporation announced an appeal would be taken.

Will Make-Up Harm?

Use cosmetics if you wish but remove them with this gentle soap of palm and olive oils. Safeguard natural loveliness.

NEARLY every woman today uses powder and rouge to some extent. But the effectiveness of their make-up depends largely on one factor—the natural beauty of their underlying complexion. For make-up, without a good complexion, cannot but be artificial. Natural charm is the urge today. And natural charm comes from natural methods.

The soothing, unguent lather of Palmolive Soap, comes from the famous beauty oils of which it is blended. To them are largely due the beautiful complexions you see wherever you look.

Just be sure you get genuine Palmolive—that's the chief thing. Imitations are not the same. The Palmolive-Peet Co., Chicago, Ill.
